PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—The Pennsylvania State Supreme Court shortly after convening at 11:10 a. m. today handed down a per curiam order affirming the decision of the lower court of Luzerne county in the hotly discussed Francis Shunk Brown-Gifford Pinchot dispute over the perforated ballots of Luzerne county.

Pinchot Nominee
The decision in effect upheld Pinchot as the legally elected gubernatorial nominee of the Republican party.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa Newc observes that the swimming pools are not quite as popular as they were two weeks ago. The present weather is almost like fall, and not inviting to any but those who are real water enthusiasts.

Fire Chief Lynn's warning against building bonfires where the sparks may start a bad grass fire is timely and should be heeded by local residents. Almost 90 per cent of all fires could be prevented by a little thinking.

Just ten more days of daylight saving. Golf enthusiasts who have only the evenings to devote to it should remember this and get in as many good links as they can before the first of the month.

Another good fire prevention measure which should be carried out right now is the inspection of heaters and heater pipes. Rain often runs down the inside of the chimney and rusts through the pipe from the furnace to the chimney. When a fire is built in the furnace, the rusted part drops out, causing smoke alarms and in many cases, serious fires.

The drought has meant little in the young life of J. H. Conrad of Haus avenue, who has one of the finest gardens in the city. His corn crop is as good as in any year previous, while other crops are doing equally as well. Mr. Conrad attributes his success to frequent cultivating and the proper amount of fertilization.

Water in the Shenango river has not dropped much during the past week, according to the records of the state gauger. A week ago his reading showed 44 feet, which rose slightly the latter part of last week and is now down to the same level. This is probably the lowest stage ever recorded in the Shenango.

Pyrotechnic Bomb That Had Not Exploded

One boy is dead in Ellwood City hospital; and two others were injured in Ellwood City Tuesday evening following an explosion of deadly powder from a pyrotechnic bomb, which the trio had tried to convert into firecrackers.

THE DEAD:
John Lapinski, Jr., 16, of 327 Hillside avenue, Ellwood City.

THE INJURED:
Edward Streit, 13, of 405 Summit avenue, Ellwood City. Two fingers on left hand burned off. Condition reported good after operation in Ellwood City hospital.

Joe Streit, 18, brother of Edward. Injured left hand finger. Burned. The explosion occurred in the garage of the Streit family at 6:15 p. m. after the Streit brothers and Lapinski gathered to make improvised firecrackers from powder found in the fireworks bomb. The bomb had failed to explode during the final day of a celebration held in the city last Saturday. The bomb had been found near Brighton road, Beaver county.

Nomination of officers and discussion of the 1931 convention city occupied the attention of the state council of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners at their sessions here this morning.

The city of Lancaster was placed in nomination for the 1931 meeting place and will probably be chosen at Thursday morning's meeting. An invitation was extended to the council to meet at Carlisle in 1931, but because of the fact that the Knights of Pythias will be in session there at the same time, it was deemed inadvisable to accept the invitation. Carlisle will probably get the 1932 convention.

President N. F. Storm of Pittsburgh, and Secretary and Treasurer Thomas H. Burns of Philadelphia, were unopposed for these offices. Other nominations were as follows:

TAHOE TAVERN, Cal., Aug. 20.—Half of England has been in Scotland half the summer awaiting the arrival of the Duchess of York's new baby. The Scotch would get a long break like that. ## FOUR HUNDRED ACRE SITE PURCHASED BY COMPANY; WILL EMPLOY MANY MEN

Former Site of Burton Powder Plant Near Covert's Station Is Acquired and Burton
Company Begins Erection of Large Plant—Former Associates In Burton Concern at Head of Company—Eighteen Million Pounds Per Annum Dynamite Plant Is Announced.

With completion of negotiations which have been under way for several months for the purchase of the 400 acre industrial site, near Covert's Station, which was formerly used as the site of the powder works, and which was abandoned a year or two ago, when the DuPont Company purchased the Grasselli Powder Company, work is already under way on the preliminaries incident to construction of a large plant for the Burton Explosives, Inc., which will immediately occupy the site, it is announced.

The company will erect an 18,000,000 pounds per annum dynamite plant, and will employ a large number of men, the year round. When the DuPont Company, through a merger, secured control of the Grasselli plant that had occupied the site, the entire plant that had been located there was scrapped and dismantled.

The new company will have the most modern plant of the kind to be found in the country, and several carloads of machinery to be used have already arrived on the ground, it is announced today by those at the head of the concern. More are to follow at once, and actual construction of the plant will be rushed so that manufacturing work can be started at the earliest possible moment. Railroad sidings are already on the site.

Headed B. J. S. Burton
Heading the big concern that has purchased the 400 acre site, and is erecting the plant, is J. S. Burton, well known to New Castle as the former head of the Burton Powder Company, the Burton-Richards Company, The American High Explosives Company, all formerly of New Castle, and the Grasselli Powder Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, all of which companies were highly successful and which have passed to the DuPont interests through mergers in recent years.

After the merger of the Grasselli Company with the DuPont company, Mr. Burton retired from active business and spent a period in travel which included a year's residence in France. On his return Mr. Burton gathered about him a group of his former associates and formed the Burton Explosives, Inc., for the purchase and resale of explosives and blasting supplies on a brokerage basis.

To Begin Manufacturing
After a period of six months of selling and survey work, the company is branching into the manufacturing field, with the intention of regaining the place in the industry held by the Burton organization, and after much investigation of various projected sites in the country, New Castle was selected, and the company is entering the manufacturing business with the intention of making New Castle the center of a chemical and explosives manufacturing area, it is stated. Over 400 acres of land have been acquired, and it is expected that most of the entire site will ultimately be in use.

Former Officials Associated
Many of the successful officials who were identified with the original Burton Powder Company will be associated with the new concern, it is announced. It is in large measure due to the efforts of F. B. Harlan, of 408 Sheridan avenue, this city, and his loyalty to New Castle, that the site near this city was selected, and the big industry brought to this county, it has been learned. Mr. Harlan has been associated with Mr. Burton for the past 20 years in his various enterprises and will be Assistant General Manager of the new plant. Mr. Harlan was plant superintendent at the original plant dur-

Hold-Up Women With Payroll

Police Identify License Number As That Of Grove City, Pa., Resident

Youthful Trio Rob Two Women Employees; Payroll Amounting To $3,776

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 19.—Two women employees of the North Side Laundry company, driving unattended to the plant with the week's payroll, were held up and robbed at the point of guns by three youthful bandits in Island avenue near Brighton Road this afternoon.

The trio escaped in an automobile with $3,776, the entire week's payroll for the institution.

Miss Margaret E. Hood, bookkeeper, and Mrs. Albert P. Boucek, clerk, were the victims. According to the women, they were stopped by the bandits who pointed guns at them and demanded the payroll.

The license number of the automobile was identified by police as that of a car owned by a resident of Grove City, Pa.

Police threw a "net" throughout the entire Pittsburgh district this afternoon in hopes of rounding up the bandits.

You're the JUDGE

Here is a farm land deal involving a cash consideration, a promissory note, an option and so on. The owners of the land, on which there were some buildings, in consideration of $500 and a promissory note for $500 payable in a year, gave an option to a prospective buyer. There was a further understanding that if the option were not exercised before it expired the note for $500 was to be paid. But if the option were exercised then the entire $1,000 was to be put toward the purchase of the land and buildings.

But something happened just before the option expired. About a week before the 12 months ended, one of the farm buildings was struck by lightning and in the fire that followed, that building and two others were destroyed. The following day the man holding the option came to the landowners and explained to them that the loss of the buildings had made the purchase no longer desirable to him and he demanded the return of the $500 consideration.

The landowners became indignant. They not only refused to return the $500 but demanded instant payment of the note. Of course the upshot of it all was that both went to court.

How would you decide this case? Make up your mind before you read the decision.

SEVEN HUNDRED K. OF P. MEMBERS AT BANQUET

The entertainment of the evening consisted of music, pep singing and dancing interspersed with a reception to the officers of the Grand Lodge and Grand Temple by the members of the two orders now in session here.

Moffatt Presides
The delightful affair was carried out without a thing to mar the pleasure of all under the able leadership of Attorney W. J. Moffatt, grand tribune of the Pennsylvania Grand Lodge with the assistance of members of the committees assigned to this event. The outstanding event of the evening other than that of the entertainment features was the presentation toward the close of a token of esteem from New Castle Lodge No. 160 and Robert Blum Lodge No. 466 of this city to the Grand Chancellor C. W. Henson of this city.

The gift presented was a handsome all leather traveling bag of the finest type and the presentation was made by Supreme Representative E. W. Hutchinson of Harmony, who in well selected words told how the two local lodges appreciated the honor that had been accorded them in having one of their number from this city be grand chancellor and a leader in Pythianism, who had been outstanding in his advancement of the interests of the order.

Grand Chancellor Hess responded with a few words of appreciation of the gift, which he felt would ever be dear to him and would even outlast him in usefulness in this world.

Nearly 700 at Dinner
The evening was inaugurated with a fine dinner served in the banquet hall of the cathedral by the King's Daughters of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Dinners were served to 675, considerably more than the number expected. In spite of this fact all were taken care of.

Balloons and paper hat favors were found at each guest's place and these aided in the merriment of the occasion.

The pep singing directed by W. O. "Red" Williams and with J. C. Sypher at the piano was one of the principal pleasures of the assembled host of Pythians and Pythian Sisters. Both of these genial exponents of happiness as demonstrated in song outdid themselves.

Balance of the program at the dinner consisted of selections by the Ellwood Mandolin vocal selections by Miss Nellie Shingledecker of Sharon with Miss Grace Kelley at the piano, an instrumental selection by Miss Grace Kelly of Sharon and numerous selections by the Aunkst Brothers of Pittsburgh, who sang selections accompanied by Hawaiian stringed instruments. Every selection was accorded applause and in some instances the performers were required to respond with many encores.

Reception Program
With the conclusion of the dinner program, the scene of activities was transferred to the ballroom, where the grand lodge and grand temple officers and past grand lodge and grand temple officers were assembled in a receiving line and while an orchestra played the great throng, which had been augmented by numerous late arrivals passed along the line and greeted the various officers.

When this had been completed, dancing was the diversion until the wee small hours.

When the grand chancellor was called to the platform during the dinner hour to receive the gift presented

Fielding admits to eighty-four years, of which sixty one years has seen him a member of the Knights of Pythias. B. W. Little who resides with his daughter at 939 Temple avenue, this city, was the oldest man present, being eighty-six years of age and he himself can boast of 45 years membership in the order.

The committee in charge of this very successful affair consisted of Mrs. Nell Knox, chairlady, Mrs. Jennie Kiser Rea, New Castle, Sara Archer, Sharon, Harriet Brown, Slippery Rock, Elizabeth DeGraw of New Brighton, Estella Hennon, Wampum, W. J. Moffatt, New Castle, Harriet Moorhead, Butler, Joseph Paulson of New Brighton, Mrs. John Stoner of Ellwood City, John D. Welsh, Sharon.

PA NEW OBSERVES

A. S. Leslie of the district attorney's office the extent to which enemies of the order seek revenge for supposed grievances. The constable said he had found on numerous occasions that nails had been forced into tires of his car while the machine was in the garage.

Once again, Pa New notices, the Harbor bridge swimming hole has been the scene of another accident. While it was not a drowning, the injury suffered was a painful one and might have easily been more serious. The treacherous place has furnished accidents aplenty during the past few years. Swimmers should exert every precaution there.

Another busy season is just about over for S. G. Ligo, superintendent of buildings and grounds for the New Castle school district. Mr. Ligo supervises all the repair work done at the different buildings during the vacation months. Each summer he finds there's plenty to do, and this was no exception.

Conventions here for either the K. of P. or Carpenters' sessions are apparently enjoying their stay, for one told Pa New, that he was impressed most favorably with the city. He said the people of the city are proving themselves most gracious hosts.

Down at the Carnegie playground preparations are being made to close. However, a few more weeks of play and fun remain for the hundreds of children who patronize the place. City playgrounds are still operating with large attendances daily.

Waterway development here is making notable progress and the goal of local industrial leaders to connect New Castle with the Ohio river by a navigable stream is a little nearer. Secretary-Manager A. W. Chilton of the association behind the project, reports greater progress has been made in the past six months than in the entire period before that time.

New Castle will not go long without visitors after the K. of P. and Carpenters' sessions. The German Saengerfest, musical festival which leaders predict will bring over 2,000 to the city, will be held early next month. The Saengerfest is something looked forward to by German singers in several states.

and lighted to explode. According to Ellwood City police the trio had succeeded in firing several of their "firecrackers" in this manner.

According to a conversation with the Street family late Tuesday Joe Street had held the pipe preparatory to firing. Lapinski was to his left. It is believed that a spark ignited the powder while it was being rammed into the pipe, causing the explosion.

The full force of the terrific blast knocked John Lapinski to the ground, inflicting grave injuries to his stomach and burst an artery. He ran to the street, continued for a block and was on the ground, a trial of blood near him, when found by Lieutenant Fox of the Ellwood City police. He was rushed to the hospital, where a hurried operation proved to be no avail. He died a short time after admittance.

Edward Street, who lost two fingers in the explosion was reported in excellent condition. His brother Joe did not need treatment at the hospital, it was reported.

Coroner James P. Calkins investigated and reported the death was caused by accident.

County Detective H. M. Lee, Constable A. S. Leslie and J. A. Gondell of the State Police aided in the investigation.

John Lapinski, Jr., is survived by his parents, two sisters and a brother. The funeral will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Agatha church. Burial in St. Agatha cemetery.

Business Trip Made Here By Plane From Beaver Falls Field

F. H. J. of Beaver Falls arrived by plane at Bradford field Tuesday and went into New Castle on business. He flew here from Patterson Heights field, Beaver Falls, in a Beaver Valley Air Service biplane, which was piloted by H. C. Strouss. The pair departed from this city Tuesday afternoon.

STAR LORE ABOUT RAINBOWS

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

THE SUN, your eye, and the center of a rainbow circle are all in a straight line. That is why you never see a rainbow in a shower during the middle of the day. If you were in an airplane looking down upon a shower during midday, you would see a rainbow making a complete circle. When you stand with the sun at your back on the horizon and a rainbow in front of you, that rainbow makes a half circle or 180 degrees. The radius of the red-outer band is 42 degrees two minutes, while that of the violet-inner band is 40 degrees 17 minutes. With the sun more than 42 degrees above the horizon, no rainbow appears.

Retains Hope
Governor Roosevelt of New York, one of the publisher's closest friends, said today in telegrams from Albany, that he had not yet given up hope for his friend and thought possible Black had been picked up by a passing boat.

Black came to New York July 31 and since that time had cruised in the vicinity, he had entertained as his yacht guests Governor Roosevelt and Admiral Byrd.

Monday night the publisher mysteriously disappeared from the yacht and was believed to have fallen overboard and drowned. His disappearance was first noted by Percy Sellers, Black's valet, who notified Capt. John M. Kelley of the Savalo at about 10 o'clock Monday night. A search was made at once by the publisher, but no trace was found of the missing man.

The Dirigible Los Angeles joined countless water craft in the search yesterday but when darkness fell reported no success. Police boats and those of the search guard, which searched yesterday will continue their work today.

Black had traveled to all parts of the world by plane and recently completed a trip by air almost around the globe. Mrs. Black was said to be in Europe.

Capt. Kelley said that Black was in excellent spirits Monday evening and appeared to be enjoying the spin in the yacht.

A crew of 14 was on the yacht at the time Black disappeared and his cousin, Mrs. J. Walter Lord of Baltimore was a passenger. Mrs. Lord had retired to her room when Black's disappearance was noted.

the organization as in the past, although still under the supervision of the order by reason of its members.

Reports Presented
Reports of finance committee, printing committee, Grand Trustees, Grand Chancellor, Grand Keeper of Records and Seal, and other committees showed the state organization to be in an excellent condition, with indication of a revival of the general interest in the order.

Nominations for officers of the grand lodge indicated a number of real contests and the voting today is expected to be spirited. The principal contention appears to be that over the selection of a successor to C. W. T. Robinson, who was appointed during the year to complete the term of the late Lemuel Wilt as grand keeper of records and seals. There is also a large number of candidates for the position of Grand Inner Guard, which is the initial stepping stone to the office of Grand Chancellor.

Nominations Made
The nominations were as follows and one person is to be elected for each of the offices: Grand Chancellor, John C. Wilkes of Sharon; Grand Vice Chancellor, A. B. Hess of York; Grand Prelate, L. M. ## STATE MAKING ROAD BUILDING RECORD

SO FAR THIS YEAR, Pennsylvania has completed 743 miles of new paved roads, as compared with the 530 miles built during the entire year of 1929. And the season still has three months to run, so it is certain that the figure will be considerably increased. It may not reach the 1,200 miles, scheduled at the beginning of the season, at a cost of $57,000,000, but it is almost certain to reach the 1,000-mile mark, and this is a goal for any state to aim at.

This has been an exceptional year for road construction, even in Pennsylvania. The industrial depression and unemployment made it the part of wisdom to do all possible, and in this the state authorities have had the aid of an unnaturally dry season. Over 25,000 men were employed last week in state road building.

So Pennsylvania has the double reward of not only providing work for thousands of men who might otherwise have had nothing to do, but getting in return a vast extension of its already wonderful system of paved highways.

SOME ALSO STUDY

Satirists of American college life love to play with the notion of a time when Phi Beta Kappa will displace the football team in the esteem of the undergraduates and in newspaper headlines.

The second event has not yet come to pass. The press, because the reading public demands it, still devotes considerably more space to athletic contests than it does to honors in history and economics. But Phi Beta Kappa has made its way into the sublimity and esteem. It now leads athletic honors among the coveted distinctions which senior questionnaires are accustomed to list.

This is a far cry from the days when Phi Beta Kappa was scorned of the generally and accepted apologetically by the recipients. The Phi Beta Kappa man did not escape the guilty feeling of having served self before he served the college. Today it seems to be acknowledged that distinction in scholarship is an excellent way of doing something for Alma Mater.

This seems to argue a changing intellectual atmosphere in the college. One reason, no doubt, for the growing popularity of Phi Beta Kappa is that the honor has been shown to be not incompatible with athletic distinction. A football star who is also the wearer of the key has ceased to be a novelty. This may mean that athletes have abandoned their former disdain for scholastic eminence.

Whatever the reasons, the fact would seem to be established that A's and B's in class are no longer regarded as unseemly in a good all-round college man; the "gentleman's C" has lost prestige.

TIMBER PROGRAM

A forestry expert reminds the civilized world that 56,000,000,000 cubic feet of timber are cut each year while 36,000,000,000 cubic feet are grown. About 20 per cent of the remaining trees on the North American continent. Europe and Africa each have about 10 per cent and South America and Asia 28 per cent. The largest North American forest area is in Canada. Much of it is of slow growth and of little value as timber.

About half of the world cutting is done in North America and replacement is relatively neglected. The timber situation in the United States is far from encouraging as consumption is far exceeding the reforestation programs carried on by the national and state governments. Most of this country's remaining domestic timber supply is in the far west. This makes transportation costly. The annual timber freight bill is estimated at $250,000,000.

Conservation and replenishment are vitally necessary. Deforestation has not proceeded to a point where the outlook is hopeless. It is said by competent authorities, however, that concerted nation-wide action must be taken in the near future. If the present conditions prevail for another 25 years, they warn, a timber famine cannot be forestalled.—The South Bend Tribune.

WIVES DRESS TO PLEASE

HUSBANDS

"Twenty years ago men prided themselves on knowing nothing about women's clothes. Today you may know a man's taste in clothes when you see his wife and he even goes shopping with her." It is a department store manager that is speaking, and he declares women dress to please their husbands. "A woman," said he, "may be elected governor, play polo, have a seat on the stock exchange, hunt wild game, hold $10,000-a-year jobs, run a woman's club—but, if her husband tells her that her new hat is 'terrible'—well, she just sits right down and cries. And the worst of it is that she usually has a sneaking suspicion that he is right about the hat." I pass on this observation for what it may be worth.

Yesterday two men met on Washington street. One of them, a young fellow, was swinging along between two crutches. The elder said to his shock hands: "How are you today, son?" "Fit as a fiddle daddy, just couldn't be finer," was the smiling reply. That's a lot better than a splint off a knee like the world is coming to an end and the devil had full possession.

Dear Sir: Over in Texas, where I wasted two years of my life, they are strong for dancing. They used to tell a story about a woman in my own town who was plum crazy about going to dances. Her husband became ill, but she continued to attend public dances just the same. The husband was sick for many months, but wife went ahead and enjoyed herself. Of course, he told her not to stay home on his account, and she never failed to take him at his word. The story goes that one night while Mrs. was dancing to her heart's content, her partner, whose face was not far from her own, said, "How is your husband getting along?" As the dance went on the woman replied in a matter-of-fact sort of way, saying, "He is very well; the doctors say he cannot live through the night."—The Man from Texas.

COAL IS old-fashioned. Oil, natural gas, and hydro-electric power have pushed it into the background. Coal may come back by the development of its by-products, in transforming bituminous into anthracite in a process employed by the company of Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., in Chicago.

AND COAL VALUES may be re-established by forming coal into electric power at the mines. But that won't help railroads. They will have to be helped by thinking about their problems instead of watching and waiting for something to cut into them, as automobiles, automobile trucks, motor buses and other things have done.

Citizens And Board Of Directors Discuss Plans For Carrying On Work

$4000.00 Needed At Once If The Mission Is To Continue To Function

About fifty citizens of New Castle met last night at the City Rescue Mission to discuss with the Board of Directors of the Mission, ways and means of relieving the present financial crisis which faces this local institution.

Robert Whittle, Vice President of the Board called the meeting to order. Wm. H. Butler was elected Chairman of the gathering. Reports of the mission's work and of its financial distress were then given. Two facts came as overwhelming surprises to the meeting: the magnitude of the gospel and relief work being carried on by the Mission, and the size of its present indebtedness.

A report of the last nine months work was given by Superintendent Watkins included the following items:

Mission Services held	249
Sunday School services	39
Sewing Classes held	16
Church Services held	6
Funeral Services held	6
People prayed with in the mission	127
People prayed with in homes and hospitals	196
Gospels of John given out	278
Meals furnished	5907
Beds furnished	3912
Free Baths furnished	3025
Calls and Investigation	681
Donations	465
Garments given out	1993
Pieces of furniture given out	122
Baskets of food given out	97
Odd jobs secured	34

W. J. Ewing, Treasurer of the Mission, showing that in addition to a shortage of over $14,000.00 the mission has pressing and immediate need for about $4000.00 to meet fire insurance premiums, now due, back payments at the building and loan association, a note at the bank due in a few days, and bills due on current expenses. He showed that the donors of the mission failed to contribute as in the past, thereby the serious condition at the present time. He showed that unless the $4000.00 was quickly raised, in addition to a substantial sum for future maintenance, the mission would be compelled to close its doors and dispose of its splendid plant in order to satisfy its creditors. A spirited and enthusiastic discussion ensued. Among others the following spoke: Thos. Hinkson, W. H. Butler, Wm. Reck, Geo. M. Landis, Mr. Gehrig, W. E. Ferry, Robt. Whittle, Benj. Watkins, Geo. Fox, A. W. Mercer, Oliver Rodgers, Howard Kirk, Harry Owen, Alvin Timblin, E. R. Wolf.

The work of the mission under Superintendent Watkins was loudly praised, and the company seemed unanimously of the opinion that the mission must continue and that the Christian people of New Castle will come to its rescue, if properly informed of the conditions. It was suggested to present the matter to the Ministerial Association, the Civic organizations and to the public through advertisements. It was voted to immediately send out appeals to friends and sympathizers of the mission to send in advance gifts for the present distress; and, is soon as plans can be perfected, to launch what should be known as "CAN CAMPAIGN". This would involve the placing of small can banks in 5000 homes in the city that the people might contribute as they were able to the mission. A little sacrifice and self-denial on the part of the Christian people of the city would soon wipe out the indebtedness of the mission and enable this great Christian relief agency to continue ministering to thousands of people every year. It was voted that an Executive Committee be appointed to perfect plans for the carrying out of the Can Campaign. It was urged that all who could send in immediate financial aid to the mission. A spirit of optimism and determination marked the faces of all as the company adjourned.

Lawyers To See Chicago Culture

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—To refute the idea that this city is inhabited almost exclusively by gangsters and racketeering politicians, plans are being made to show the beauty and culture of Chicago to French and British baristers when they attend the American Bar association meeting here opening August 17.

Amos C. Miller, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the convention, recently said: "We are proud of what we have to show our visitors in the Chicago metropolitan area. We want our foreign visitors to take the word back to their own countries that here they have found all of those things which contribute to life in its finest aspects."

Says Vitamin C Will Often Halt Decay Of Teeth

(International News Service) DENVER, Aug. 20.—Vitamin C—elusive, but found in quantities in lemons and oranges—is the essential element for the checking of prevention of decay in teeth, Dr. Milton Theodore Hanke, of Chicago, told the American Dental Association here.

Dr. Hanke, who is identified with the Otha Sprague foundation of the University of Chicago, described results of two years' experimentation at the University of Chicago to prove this assertion. "The average American is deficient in Vitamin C," Dr. Hanke said, "because the average diet does not contain it in sufficient quantities, although it is found in fresh vegetables commonly consumed. The human body cannot store this vitamin for long periods. The supply must be renewed every twenty-four hours."

Experiments show that when vitamin C is added to the diet in large quantities dental decay is arrested and formation of new cavities is stopped. The ravages of pyorrhea have been checked also through this same method.

Best results, Dr. Hanke said, developed when the diet of children being observed in the experiments was increased with the juice of one lemon and one pint of orange juice daily in addition to milk, eggs, lettuce and other vegetables. General health of children on this diet improved also, the Chicagoan said. A quart of orange juice daily for ten days effected a marked improvement also in five cases of trench mouth observed at the University, Dr. Hanke said.

Four hundred children at Mooseheart orphanage, national children's home of the Loyal Order of Moose in Illinois, now are benefitting from a controlled diet providing full, needed amounts of vitamin C, the speaker said. The diet of these children will be observed for a period of two years. Dr. Hanke looks upon this research as one of the most vital now in progress.

(International News Service) KANSAS CITY, Aug. 20.—Believe it or not, there is a golfer in these parts who is bragging of his ability to sock the little white pill a good 300 yards down the middle aisle of the fairway. He is Sergeant Harry Bucher of the Kansas City police department. It seems that Sergeant Bucher had made such a phenomenal drive and was well pleased with same until he discovered his ball had landed squarely on the back of August Behrendt, a police commissioner, who was playing in another foursome ahead of Bucher. Now Bucher has taken up pee-wee golf.

(International News Service) KANSAS CITY, Aug. 20.—A mechanical device which will revolutionize the gasoline production industry by "cracking" gasoline from crude oil at lower cost, remove carbon making properties and yet retain high test features, is claimed by engineers of the C. & C. developing company of Kansas City.

The apparatus is the result of fifteen years of research and experimentation, the engineers claim.

SPECTATORS DO NOT WORRY BEAVERS AT WORK BUILDING DAM

CLARION, Pa., Aug. 20.—There is a beaver dam located on Deer creek near Shipperville which attracts many spectators every day. The beavers pay no attention to the audience but continue working. The dam extends the width of the creek and is five feet high. There are five old beavers and six young ones at the dam. The dam is exceptionally well built, having withstood the high water this spring. The houses are arranged like a shelf, with a chimney of their own invention. They eat the bark of the asp, birch, poplar and alder trees near the creek, avoiding the hemlock and pine trees.

Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, wife of the noted inventor, is a staunch advocate of home-making as a career for women.

Jane Gray Will Read Dad's Letter

Daughter Of Judd Gray Receives Letter From Dad
Every Birthday

Will Read Letter On Thirteenth Birthday Which Occurs Next Sunday

(International News Service)
NORWALK, Conn., Aug. 20.—A letter from dad—a poignant epistle it must be, indeed—but, after all, a letter from dad!
Jane Gray will read it, perhaps with tear dimmed eyes, on her thirteenth birthday—next Sunday.
Her annual birthday letter—
It is a letter from the grave, written by her father, Judd Gray, as he sat in the shadow of the electric chair at Sing Sing prison awaiting to be electrocuted with his paramour, the blonde, dominating Ruth Snyder, for the sashweight murder of her husband, Albert Snyder, magazine Art editor.
Jane, growing up now and understanding things, is living quietly with relatives here where her mother, broken-hearted by the tragedy that wrecked their home, took shelter to avoid the fierce blaze of notoriety that followed the murder.
It is two years since Jane's father, in his left slippers, his white face immobile, shuffled in through "the little green door" and calmly went to his doom.
On each succeeding birthday, until she reaches her majority, Jane will receive a letter from her father. The letter is turned over to her each year by the administrators of his estate.
Although saddened by the circumstances under which it was written, Jane looks forward eagerly to his birthday letter.
After all, it's a letter from dad!

French Doctor Says 100 Years Normal

Savant At 93 Believes Moderation And Proper Breathing Are Vital

One hundred years should be the life span of every healthy man and woman born of healthy parents.
This is the dictum of Professor Alexandre Guenot, oldest doctor in France, who recently celebrated his ninety-eighth birthday in Paris by studying medicine and working on a voluminous book on longevity.
The sprightly grey-headed man, who looks to be 60, said: "The normal span of life of a normal man is 100 years. Do not eat too much, but eat what you think is good for you. At my age I eat eggs and butter with every meal, and also have a little meat, vegetables and wine.
The most important point is proper breathing. The average man should inhale three to four liters of air at every breath."

Brazil Trolleys Deliver Meat

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The trolley in Pernambuco, Brazil, supply a real public service. Frederick Simplich, in charge of the National Geographic Society's survey party, wrote the headquarters here that meat is delivered to the butcher shops there on trailers attached to street cars.
Among the other "queer things" he chronicled were the smell of an antifreeze mixture in the Pernambuco taxicabs. They are operated on a mixture of alcohol and kerosene, he wrote, instead of on gasoline.
"The law makes them put in the kerosene so chauffeurs won't drink
the fuel tanks dry," he said.
Another sight Simplich reported was six piano movers in action.
With their path cleared by their leader who walked ahead of them, six men, with thick and strained necks, walked at moderate gait along the sidewalk with a huge piano balanced atop their heads. A faulty move of a single head would mean disaster.
Scientists searching for something new to keep balloons up might ask the bakers what they are using in bread.

Peter's Adventures

WORKER was so startled at Peter's warning cry that she dropped the blackberry bramble, promptly tripped over it and scratched her front leg. Hurriedly picking herself up, she ran forward.
"Where are the enemy? Are they flying or crawling? How many of them are they?"
But at first sight of the insects whose appearance had so frightened Peter, Worker Ant snickered.
"Foes nothing, boy! Those folks are friends."
"What are they running about so madly for? They seem to be looking for something and I thought it might be for us—that they had found our trail."
"A good guess is better than no guess at all," chuckled Worker Ant.
"Over yonder are my brothers and my sisters and my cousins and my aunts and you're right—they are looking for something."
"For what?" demanded Peter.
"For a good place to lay things down." Again Ant was much amused.
"I forgot to tell you that today is moving day with my family, and we are moving to brand new quarters in a brand new hill. By the way, I promised to return to the old hill in time to help bear my burden of the household goods."
"Could I help?" asked Peter, who, besides being anxious to aid whenever and wherever he could, was curious in the bargain and didn't want to miss a trick.
"Could you help? I'll say so!" cried Worker Ant. "Hurrah, the first lap on our journey is ended. We're here, boys."
"Where are we?" demanded Peter, glancing around and seeing nothing unusual.
Next: "Peter's Mistake."

Forgotten Atlantis Will Be Subject Of Band At Saengerfest

"Suite Atlantis" Will Be Played
By Symphony On Second Day Of Event

One of the highlights of the concert selections by the 27-piece symphony orchestra, which will be directed in New Castle during the two-day Saengerfest of the Transylvania-Saxon Saengerbund of North America, August 31 and September 1, will be the playing of the "Suite Atlantis" in the Cathedral.
The suite was composed by V. F.
Safarek, band leader in the U. S.
Army. Atlantis is the continent mentioned in Plato's history. The land is supposed to have extended across the Atlantic ocean approximately from Europe to Yucatan. The Azores islands are all that is left of the lofty mountain peaks of the former Atlantis.
The land is said to have been peopled by a race that conquered and civilized the world. Number one of the four part Suite depicts Night, the awakening of the wonderful people to a fanfare of trumpets. Number two is written in the style of the stately gavotte. Number three is depicted by a beautiful duet for the pumpkin and trombone. The title of the fourth part, "The Destruction of Atlantis," is significant and during the descriptive storm and earthquake the love melody of number three is heard.

Exhibit Portraits Of New Englanders

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Aug. 20.—Authentic portraits of distinguished members of the Massachusetts Bay Colony were exhibited at the Museum of Fine Arts in conjunction with the tercentenary celebration.
The art collection, number about 100 portraits of men and women who contributed largely to the shaping of affairs in this country, many of whom were prominent in early political history, military exploits, in commercial and social life, and in the fields of education and the arts, were assembled by the museum with the assistance of Frank W. Bailey, an authority on Colonial Art together with the co-operation of many public institutions and private owners.
The exhibition gives an excellent survey of the art in the Colony before 1775.

Minute

Monarchical Dictatorship May Come For Roumania

(International News Service)
BELGRADE, Aug. 20.—Possible establishment of a monarchical dictatorship in Roumania in order that King Carol and his brother Prince Nicholas may array the ladies of their choice without political interference, was reported in messages reaching here from Bucharest today.
Reports received from the Roumanian capital by telephone, thus evading the rigorous censorship advised down on telegraph lines, indicated King Carol's attempts to stage a reconciliation with his wife, Princess Helen, had failed to complete, and that he was seriously contemplating assumption of autocratic power in order to end the domestic unhappiness which has followed his return from exile.
His reconciliation attempts failing,
King Carol intends to contract a Mor-ganatic marriage with Mme. Magna Lupescu, the red-haired Roumanian with whom he spent five years in exile in France. The reports declared, at the same time, he will permit
Prince Nicholas to marry Lucia Do-net Dumitrescu, the beautiful and mysterious Roumanian girl for whom the King's brother some months ago was reported planning abandonment of his royal status.
Prince Nicholas' attempts to elope with Mme. Dumitrescu were foiled by the vigorous efforts of his mother, the dowager Queen Marie, who "ruled the roost" in the Roumanian royal household before Carol staged his successful coup d'etat and seized the throne from his son, Crown Prince Michael.
Some weeks after Carol's coup Mme.
Lupescu returned to Roumania, dying her auburn tresses black to escape notice when she crossed the border and took up her residence at a chateau provided by the King.
Premier Jules Maniu, it is reported is in violent opposition to the plans of Carol and Nicholas for Morgantic
(CQ) marriages, and demands at least a "surface reconciliation" between the sovereign and Princess Helen. This continued political opposition to his plans, the reports state, may prompt Carol to reply with establishment of a dictatorship, whereby he would have free rein to do what he chose.
His present popularity with his peo-

Bergman Runs 37 Miles To Reunion Here

Long Distance Runner From Leetsdale Arrives On Foot

MAKES TRIP IN 5 HOURS; 20 MIN.

A. F. Bergman, long distant runner of Leetsdale, Pa., arrived at the Y. M. C. A., here at 12:20 o'clock this afternoon after running the 37-mile course between this city and Leetsdale to attend the 21st annual reunion of the Dombart family at Cascade Park today.

Bergman, a veteran at the running game, covered the distance in exactly five hours and 20 minutes, having left his home town promptly at 7 o'clock. Last time Leetsdale is located 15 miles on this side of Pittsburgh, on the Ambridge side of the Ohio river. Immediately upon reaching here the runner took a refreshing shower at the Y, then dressed up and left for Cascade where the relatives and friends of the Dombarts are gathered this afternoon.

Bergman said he hasn't missed one for several years. Had the headwinds and an officer of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie police force not interfered with the Leetsdale man's plans, the running time would have been shortened by an hour at least. At College, just at this end of Beaver Falls, Bergman almost got into the toils of the law because of trespassing, but explanation saved him.

According to Bergman he left Leetsdale at 7 o'clock and hit for the Pennsylvania tracks. He followed that railroad line clear to Beaver Falls, where he left the rails and ran through the very heart of the city. Crowds along the street cheered him as he passed, for he's known quite well down there. "I was just after passing out of Beaver Falls that I had my first difficulty," Bergman explained. "It was sort of funny, but nevertheless it almost cost me $25. I told the officer who I was but that wasn't sufficient."

"I guess the Lake Erie has been having some trouble along their track down there recently and the officer that got me thought that he had solved a mystery. I knew he was going to stop me when I first caught a glimpse of him."

Bergman urged the patrolman to let him go for almost 50 minutes, and all the time his body was being chilled. He even told him that to hold him was not a bit good, and he promised to report later if he really wanted to stop him. He was anxious to complete the run.

After being warned to stay off the Lake Erie tracks he returned to the concrete road and ran the remainder of the distance along that way. The officer told me that while the railroad route might be shorter, it would be best to stay away from officers farther up the line.

"It was probably the hardest run of all," gasped the runner as he was taking a shower, a moment after reaching the Y. "I've been in longer marathons but never before have I had a harder time getting to my destination."

Bergman said that he had to buck a strong wind all the way from Leetsdale, but it was more noticeable after resuming his trip at Beaver Falls.

For the past 25 years Mr. Bergman, who is a barber by trade, has been running. Despite his 42 years he regularly runs over a 20-mile course out back of Leetsdale and at other times he enters contests of different kinds.

He told The News reporter today that he has walked between Pittsburgh and Chicago, and Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. He goes out for records.

Three Men Believed Killed, 16 Injured In Dust Explosion In Grain Elevator

(International News Service)

BALTIMORE, Aug. 20.—Three men were believed killed while sixteen other workers were injured in a dust explosion today at the Western Maryland grain elevator.

The explosion wrecked the building, a twelve story concrete structure. One wall was blown out. Firemen and policemen were searching the ruins and dragging burning waters, which adjoined the building for three men, missing and believed killed in the accident.

The explosion shook the water front district and was of such terrific force that Joseph Bell Fullerton, seated in an automobile 300 feet from the building, was blown out of his car.

Harrisburg Making Final Arrangements For Annual American Legion Convention

Vanguard Of 40,000 American Legionnaires Auxiliary Will Be Present

By ARTHUR B. DONEGAN, International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Aug. 20.—Vanguard of the 40,000 American legionnaires and their auxiliary who will descend on Harrisburg in the next two days, five thousand men and women were here today, putting the last-minute touches to preparations for the annual convention of the Pennsylvania department of the American Legion.

Unofficially, conventions of both the legion and its auxiliary will get under way tonight.

But until tomorrow, when business sessions start and the real influx of delegates comes, both organizations will officially be marking time. The off-the-schedule opening of the convention will begin with a fireworks display followed closely by a dinner tonight for legion officials and distinguished guests.

Tomorrow, with the legion assembled in Chestnut street auditorium and the auxiliary in the House of Representatives, formal sessions will open.

And then will come a program, packed with activities calculated to satisfy the taste of every delegate to the sessions.

There will be dances, band concerts, and air circus, a double headed ball game, river excursions, a boxing show for legionnaires Friday night and a golf tournament.

State Commander Frank Pinola, of Kingston, and other officers of the legion were scheduled to arrive today in time for opening of registration of delegates, which will start this afternoon.

Harrisburg had assumed a festive air for the occasion. Flags, legion emblems and special electric displays adorned the downtown streets and business buildings.

The strains of fife and drum corps and legion post bands mingled with salutations and back-slappings as legionnaires, pouring into the city by train, bus and automobile, greeted old friends and companions in arms.

By tonight, most of the delegates will have arrived. J. J. Deighan, state adjutant, estimated and when the gavel falls tomorrow morning to call the conventions to order every post in the state and the auxiliary organization will have its representatives on hand, ready to settle down to business.

Supreme Court Judges Consider Ballot Case

Decision In Pinchot-Brown Controversy Is Believed Due Today

Judges Reconvene This Morning After Session Yesterday

By E. L. RAWLEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—Four of the seven justices constituting the Pennsylvania supreme court in whose hands rests the final decision as to whether Gifford Pinchot or Francis Shunk Brown is the legal Republican gubernatorial nominee, re-assembled today to continue their deliberations.

Arguments in the case were completed yesterday with counsel for Brown, apparently defeated in the May primaries, contending that performance of ballots in Luzerne county, where Pinchot piled up a commanding plurality, invalidated all ballots cast in that county.

Should the high court concede Brown's contention, the 60,000 persons who voted for Pinchot in the primary would be disfranchised and the Philadelphia attorney would supersede the "fall forster from Pike county" as the recognized gubernatorial nominee of the Republican party.

Following completion of the arguments yesterday, the high tribunal declared a recess. Later, it again assembled and proceeded to deliberate for three hours in an effort to reach a decision.

Last evening the court announced that a decision had not been reached. Re-assembling of the justices today indicated that sessions will be continued until the controversy is decided.

The four men to hear the appeal, and on whose decision the governorship of one of the greatest states in the union hinges, are, acting Chief Justice Frazier, of Pittsburgh, and Justices William I. Schaffer, of Haverford; Sylvester B. Sadler, of Carlisle, and Emory A. Walling, of Erie.

Deputy Attorney General William A. Schnader headed the array of legal counsel for Pinchot while John Hampton Barnes, conceded to be one of the keenest legal analysts in Pennsylvania, served as chief of Brown's staff.

Perforation of the ballots may have been contrary to the state election laws, but once the votes were cast and placed in the ballot boxes they expressed the will of the people of the county and no mere irregularities should disfranchise the 60,000 voters, counsel for Pinchot argued.

Schnader also admitted under questioning by Justice Frazier that the judges of Luzerne county had no more authority to order the perforation of the ballots than a ward alderman although he insisted they did so in this case to prevent fraud by having certain numbers perforated in the margin of the ballots in order to detect any counterfeit ballots.

Barnes on the other hand waved aside any discussion as to the intent of the Luzerne officials. "The law is mandatory," he said, "and the law must not be broken."

Neither Pinchot or Brown was present at the hearing, but 250 other politicians and attorneys jammed the little hearing room to capacity. Brown was busy all day at his law office here while Pinchot went fishing on his Pike county estate.

New Orleans Is Convention Site

New Orleans, Site For Spanish-American Veterans Convention In 1931

Big Convention In Philadelphia Comes To A Close On Thursday

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—The 20,000 Spanish-American war veterans assembled here for their 32nd annual national encampment turned to the official business of their convention today and before the day is over they will have elected new officers and decided upon the site of the 1932 convention.

Edward S. Matthias, former supreme court justice of Ohio, and Robert Winkowski, of Venice, California, are the nominees for the post of commander-in-chief of the order now held by Governor Fred Green, of Michigan. Matthias is expected to win out by an overwhelming majority.

Dr. R. C. Ellsworth, of Portland, Ore., one of Roosevelt's "Rough Riders," is unopposed for the office of senior vice commander-in-chief.

Four men have been nominated for the post of junior vice commander-in-chief. They are: Michael F. Kelly, Illinois; Arnold Emmendorfer, St. Louis; William A. Sedding, Norfolk, Va.; and Henry A. Ingalls, New Mexico. Four also were nominated for the post of surgeon general, namely: Dr. Wm. K. Mitterdorf, New York; Dr. John R. Wright, Louisville, Ky.; Dr. Frank Broderick, Detroit, and Dr. N. Dorrell Harvey, of Providence, R. I. Two were nominated for chaplain-in-chief.

New Orleans has been granted the convention for 1931 but a merry battle is being waged over the 1932 convention site. Milwaukee stepped into the forefront of the inviting cities by handing Governor Green a key with the assertion the key "will not only open the city to you but the homes of its residents and even their cellars where may be found the stuff that made Milwaukee famous."

The invitation was extended by Albert J. Obenberger, of Milwaukee. Boston placed a check for $1000 with the invitation committee and asserted the city would spend $35,000 to entertain the veterans.

"We will give you as good a time as the law permits," Charles F. McCarthy, of Marlboro, Mass., told the veterans in an effort to induce them to visit Boston. Saratoga Springs, N. Y., also has extended an invitation for the 1932 convention.

Following the business session today a drum and bugle corps contest will be staged and the day's program will wind up with a huge sports carnival tonight at the Sesqui Stadium.

The "Big Parade" of the veterans and the auxiliary organizations formed the high light of yesterday's proceedings. The convention comes to a close tomorrow.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS DR. FARR

Club Members Take Poll On Matter Of Use Of Voting Machines

"Palestine" was the theme of the splendid message brought to the Kiwanis club of the city Wednesday by Rev. C. G. Farr, local district superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal church, and a fellow-member of the Kiwanis club.

The minister visited abroad two years ago, and in his address at noon described the experiences of that sojourn. He declared that he doesn't know of any other country that is more closely related to religion than Palestine, and that any man who visits there will feel amply repaid for the time and expense of the trip.

The Kiwanians were given opportunity today to express their opinion on voting machines, the poll being taken under the direction of the public affairs committee, chairmaned by A. R. Kingsbury. The result will be made known later.

The informer has one advantage. When he lifts up his eyes, he gets a good view of the under side of a snake.

European nations should form a United States without difficulty. They already have an army of trained spies.

Mechanical Defects Cause Many Traffic Accidents

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 20.—Fifteen per cent of the deaths caused by traffic accidents are due to mechanical defects in automobiles, because of neglect and careless use by owners, according to facts developed by the Third National conference on Street and Highway safety which recently was in session here.

The conference emphatically urged removal from the streets and highways of every car in a dangerous mechanical condition, whether from defective steering gear, faulty brakes or broken headlights, through inspection under state supervision of all motor vehicles.

It was brought out by the motor authorities of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware that among 4,000,000 motor vehicles in operation in these states, more than 1,000,000 required brake adjustments or renewals, 1,000,000 required adjustment of lights, 280,000 required steering gear repairs, and 50,000 required other mechanical corrections to put them in safe condition for operation. A statement issued by the conference organization.

cent years there has been a notable improvement in the design and construction of motor vehicles from a safety standpoint, and the manufacturers are actively continuing this work. It was pointed out also that the owners of fleets of vehicles have progressed in a marked degree in the proper maintenance of automobiles and taxicabs, but that there has not been a corresponding improvement in maintenance on the part of individual owners of private cars.

The conference continued: "Such neglect, it is emphasized, is adding constantly to the list of injuries and fatalities, and the hazards of traffic on the streets and roads. The estimate of one traffic expert was that in some states one-half of the automobiles that have been in use for 12 months have headlights that are out of focus in some degree, and throw the beams in the eyes of approaching motorists.

"Old cars which can no longer be kept mechanically in a safe condition should be eliminated from the highways, whether by proper provision in the certificate of title law, or by the 'highway safety plan' of the manufacturers, which provides an allowance for the junking of decrepit cars."

Manufacturers were urged by the conference to promote the proper maintenance of motor vehicles by giving full and complete instructions on this point to the purchasers of new cars. The drivers of cars also should learn to detect the presence of worn parts, it was pointed out, and to either make regular inspections, or have such inspections made by competent persons.

Young Amazon Bites Policeman

DENVER, Aug. 20.—Bertha Page, an energetic young miss, with not only bulldog determination but also bulldog tactics, proved too strong competition for Detective Tom Beary, when he attempted to arrest her recently after she had broken a large portion of a Denver restaurant's dishes in a burst of disgust with the food that was served her.

The detective arrived, the young lady made a dive for him, fastened her teeth in his leg, and refused to release her grip until she had torn away a large piece of his pants.

Beary, clearly outclassed, called for the riot squad, which proved a better match for the young Amazon and succeeded in placing her in the city jail on a charge of drunkenness and "unbecoming" conduct.

Political Rift Threatens Carol

King Carol Is Losing Popularity Among His Strongest Supporters

Government Business Held Up Pending Settlement Of Marital Problem

(International News Service)

BUCHAREST, Aug. 20.—A political rift threatened further to complicate the affairs of King Carol today, whose domestic life since his seizure of the Rumanian throne has been redundant with strife and dissension.

Alternately reported as reconciled or definitely parted from Queen Helen after her steadfast refusal to assume her place on the throne beside the man from whom she secured a divorce when he renounced his royal status for the love of red-haired Magda Lupescu, the King is rapidly losing his popularity among his own supporters. The government as well as political leaders are suddenly developing a pronounced sympathetic attitude toward Helen.

With Dowager Queen Marie, hitherto a desperate peacemaker who strove tirelessly to effect a reconciliation between her son and Helen, in Yugoslavia after a trip made in mysterious haste, indications pointed to a possible political crisis in the Rumanian capital.

A great deal of government business has been held up pending definite settlement of the King's marital problem. Premier Xanlu vigorously denied the report that Carol, weary of trying to persuade Helen to become reconciled, has intentions of marrying his auburn-haired chambermaid, Lupescu. He said under Rumanian law it was impossible for the King to marry a Jewess.

Meanwhile the name of another European beauty was linked with that of Carol. Current rumors intimated that political circles would favor a marriage between Carol and the Bourbon Princess De Guise, daughter of the Duke De Guise, pending to the French throne. Carol was frequently seen in her company during his sojourn in Paris.

The Princess Ileana, sister of the King, was reported on the way back to Bucharest after cutting short a vacation in Yugoslavia because of her brothers' complicated domestic affairs.

Announcement was made this morning by Dr. H. H. Rosenthal, commander of Perry S. Gaston Post, No. 343, American Legion, that arrangements have been made to use a voting machine for the annual election of the Legion, which will be held in October.

Dr. Rosenthal stated that the employment of a machine will not only be a novel experiment, but will give members an opportunity to become familiar with the advantages that result from the use of the mechanical ballot.

He mentioned that the company which furnished the machine will provide a representative who will assist in instructing election board regarding its duties with the machine, as well as all voters.

It is contemplated to have a voting machine set up in the Legion home in a few weeks so that members and others interested may inspect and operate it.

Farm Suggestions From State College

Put Late Chicks on Range—Late-hatched chicks should not be forgotten. It is worthwhile to place them on a separate range away from the older chicks.

Take Care of Heifers—Take a look at the heifers out on pasture. They may be short of water or feed or both. It pays to keep the young stock growing.

Kill Quack Grass—To be effective against quack grass, cultivation must be thorough, frequent, persistent, and properly timed.

When to Requeen—Requeening should be done toward the end of the last honey flow of the season. The operation preferably should be performed before the middle of September. New queens may be reared by the beekeeper or purchased from a reliable breeder.

Pick Good Location—In locating the rose bed, keep the plants away from tree roots. Trees and hedges on the north and west sides of the garden are advantageous. Full sunshine is needed part of the day.

Show Farm Products—Every farmer has a chance to win some of the prize money offered by his county fair, county farm products show, or state farm products show. Better specimens kept at home never win from those not quite so good which are entered in the competition.

Clean the Sprayer—Before putting the orchard or potato spray machine away for the season, it is a good plan to clean the tank and working parts, oil the pump, and oil and loosen all threaded parts.

Move Poppies Now—Oriental poppies should be moved now. The roots are dormant at this time of year, but when the fall rains commence they will start to grow. The plants cannot be safely moved at any other time of the year.

75,000 MILES IN A MODEL A FORD

Letter from salesman shows reliability and economy of the car

IN THE past two years, many new Fords have been driven 50,000, 75,000 and even 100,000 miles. Everywhere the car has made an unusual record for reliability and economy. Following is a letter from a salesman who travels long distances daily by automobile.

"I purchased a Model A Coupe May 8, 1928, and at this writing have run it 75,888 miles.

"After I had driven 44,400 miles, I spent $45.08 in repairs and at 61,000 miles had an additional amount of work done costing $25.60. My tire mileage has averaged better than 18,000 miles.

"I am a traveling man and my territory is from northern Virginia to Macon, Mississippi, and from Knoxville, Tennessee, to the Atlantic Ocean."

Similar tributes to the new Ford come to us daily from individual owners, from Federal and City Bureaus and from large industrial companies having fleets of several hundred cars.

They have found, as you will find, that the low cost of operation and up-keep on the Ford is even more important than the low first cost of the car. In twenty, thirty, or fifty thousand miles, this saving frequently amounts to hundreds of dollars. The quality that has been built into the car is reflected in its good performance and long life.

See the Ford dealer and have him take you for a demonstration ride in the new Ford. Give it a severe test in traffic, on steep hills and on the open road. Check up on comfort, safety, speed, power, acceleration. Talk with Ford owners and experienced garage men and note what they say about reliability and economy.

Then you will know, from your own experience, that the new Ford brings you everything you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price.

NEW FORD COUPE

An especially good type for executives, salesmen, and physicians. Easy-riding and comfortable on long trips because of its specially designed springs and four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers.

Cape Cod Freed Of Insect Pests And Mosquitoes

(International News Service)
NANTUCKET, Mass., Aug. 20.—The mosquito has stung its last. The eradication results against the pest that has broken up many a Cape Cod picnic and caused considerable discomfort to visitors and vacationists has been attained.

After a three year fight against the pests on the Cape in which large sums of money have been used in eradication of the mosquito, Harry V. Lawrence, of Falmouth, chairman of the control work in the upper Cape towns, declared the Nantucket results most satisfactory.

In proving the results obtained, Chairman Lawrence and a party of seventy-seven embarked on a journey to this island to observe the results obtained after the three years fight against the pests. A money prize was offered to any member of the group that found a mosquito. The party went through areas from Polpis to Eels Point and made careful search for traces of the insects, many of the searchers were armed with field glasses as they turned over grass and dirt. Every area which was heavily infested, was visited.

Resident and seasonal visitors to the island were jubilant at the report.

The work against the pests was begun three years back. This spring the town used $15,000, half of which was raised by public subscription, and some 260,000 feet of ditch was laid. Each Spring a drive will be made against the pests.

Indian Princess Is Bought By White Man

(International News Service)
GLEN HEAD, N. Y., Aug. 20.—A survivor of the vanishing race of first Americans, an Indian princess, has found a coveted place among the first society of the land here, in this shore colony which once entertained another son of royalty, the Prince of Wales.

The princess today had no statement to make upon her sudden elevation into exclusive circles. Deaf, dumb and blind, her hair turned a silvery gray by sun and rain, she lives outdoors in the manner of the American aborigine. Ceaselessly she turns sightless eye to the shiny motor cars as they speed past on Cedar Swamp road in front of the home of Alfred H. Porter.

Mr. Porter has just acquired the princess. "She must be very, very old," he says.

Before he acquired her the princess stood for years in front of a cigar store. Then, like other cigar store Indians, she was abandoned to her fate, and has become a rarity.

Get Doctor's Advice For Hay Fever Relief

By LOGAN CLENDENING M. D.

There are a great many different kinds of treatment for hay fever. What treatment the victim should choose depends upon a number of factors. It must be suited to the individual needs of each patient. That is why no written article such as this addressed to a large audience can ever be as good as the advice you get from your own doctor.

One factor is the place where you live. This may seem a strange statement at first glance, but the fall type of hay fever, as it exists in the eastern states, is so mild as to be an almost different disease from the hay fever in the middle western states, where the ragweed grows so very abundantly. Inoculations of pollen vaccines are far more successful in the hands of eastern physicians than elsewhere. This is because their patients are not exposed to such heavy amounts of pollen, and therefore can be more easily protected by the vaccines.

Planning to take a vacation August 15 and going to a pollen-free climate may do for some people. But as the fall hay fever season lasts from August 15 to about October 10 (just frost) this is out of the question for anyone actively engaged in business.

The regions free from pollen in the United States are the northern lake districts—northern Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, etc., (of course, also Canada)—California and the Pacific coast generally, the Yellowstone, etc., the northern Atlantic seaboard and most mountain regions. An ocean voyage is equally effective.

Local palliative treatment to the nose and eyes gives many people enough relief to make them comfortable. The best preparation I know of is called estivin. It should be dropped into the eyes. It stops the itching, smarting feeling in the eyes, and runs down from the eyes into the nose, relieving the irritation there.

Another factor in the choice of methods of treatment is the severity with which the individual is affected. Some persons have it in a very mild form. If they have the severe form with asthma, I should recommend the vaccine injections, as these relieve the asthmatic attacks at least.

The vaccines are made by dissolving the pollen of the particular plant to which the patient is sensitive in some solution—salt water or glycerine. They are injected in increasing strengths at intervals of every three to five days. They should be begun several weeks—at least six—before the time of the annual attack. They only protect for one season, and must be repeated every year. Thus they are, at the best rather time consuming, and troublesome and expensive. Nor are they entirely without danger. Reactions may be so severe as to cause great prostration. There are even a few deaths recorded from their use.

Their action is not absolutely certain. In about 25 per cent of cases they completely prevent any discomfort. In about 50 per cent more cases they give 50 to 75 per cent of relief. In the eastern states, as I have said, they are more successful than in the middle western and southern states.

A good way of measuring the amount of relief they afford is for the victim to count the number of handkerchiefs he has to use per day on his nose and eyes. Without treatment, 12 is about the average. If after treatment he only uses six a day, you can say he has had 50 per cent of relief. Tomorrow we will discuss the way to provide a pollen proof room.

DANDRUFF

what it is .. how to remove it quick relief for infected, burning and itching scalp

Great dermatologists declare that a normal, healthy scalp is extremely rare. Some go as far as to say that there is no scalp that is not troubled in some way, to some degree.

The most common—and humiliating—condition is loose dandruff.

Infection makes fat glands overactive

Dandruff is caused by overactivity of the fat glands of the scalp—which expel a greasy whitish substance known as sebum.

This overactivity is the result of infection, many dermatologists claim. They advise immediate treatment. Whatever the cause, this activity should be checked lest the condition continue and cause eczema, falling hair, and baldness.

Why Listerine checks dandruff

Frequent shampoo, vigorous massage, and the use of an antiseptic constitute effective treatment for ordinary cases of loose dandruff.

Germicidal Power—with safety

*Though safe to use in any body cavity, full strength Listerine kills even the resistant Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and Bacillus

The success of Listerine in combating this condition is due to certain unusual qualities.

Since it is a safe though powerful germicide* Listerine combats any irritation that may be present on the scalp.

It dissolves and removes incrustations of sebum from the hair and scalp, assuring antiseptic cleanliness. It produces on the scalp an astringent effect, exhilarates and invigorates the tissue around the hair roots.

It allays itching, and soothes inflammation and eruption frequently associated with dandruff.

Results achieved quickly

You simply use Listerine as a part of the shampoo, or independent of it. Douse it on the scalp full strength and massage vigorously.

Keep the treatment up, using a little olive oil if the scalp is excessively dry.

You will be delighted to see how quickly you get results. Frequently loose dandruff disappears after one or two treatments. Sometimes however, if the case is stubborn, a week or two and perhaps more will be required. Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, Mo.

Select State K. Of P. Officers

Pittsburgh Man Is Named
Grand Record Keeper
In Election Battle

HARRISBURG MAY BE HEADQUARTERS

Wednesday morning session of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, was spent for the most part in balloting for officers of the grand lodge to serve for the ensuing year. There were spirited contests for the officers of grand keeper of records and seal, grand inner guard, grand outer guard and grand trustee. In the cases of the grand inner guard and grand outer guard no selection was made and ballots on the candidates for these two offices will be cast again this afternoon.

There were no contests for the offices of grand chancellor, grand vice chancellor, grand prelate, grand master of exchequer, grand master at arms, and the candidates for these offices were elected as follows: grand chancellor, John C. Wilkes of Sharon, who was elevated from grand vice chancellor; grand vice chancellor, A. B. Hess, Mechanicsburg, former grand prelate; grand prelate, L. M. Eakin, Vandergrift, former grand master at arms; grand master of exchequer, Henry F. Fox, Johnstown, re-elected; grand master at arms, O. G. Brennan, Harrisburg, former grand inner guard.

Grand Keeper of Records
Benjamin Moore of Pittsburgh was selected as grand keeper of records and seals in a very spirited contest with C. A. T. Robinson of Philadelphia, who was filling out the unexpired term of Lemuel Wilt during the past year.

Dr. Louis Lunch of Philadelphia was elected grand trustee over W. C. Malone of Monaca in an exciting contest.

Another matter of importance brought up at the convention and which will be discussed at some length and probably disposed of at the present convention, is the matter of changing the grand lodge headquarters from Philadelphia, where it has been located for the past 63 years, to Harrisburg. A resolution is now before the convention proposing the changing of the headquarters to Harrisburg and there is said to be considerable sentiment for the change, as well as for a continuance of the headquarters in Philadelphia.

The convention heard two wonderful addresses this morning, one by Edwin Aspinwall, grand keeper of records and seals of Connecticut domain, and the other by Thomas Neal, grand chancellor of the domain of West Virginia.

The election results were as follows: Grand Chancellor, John C. Wilkes, Sharon 220; Grand Vice Chancellor, A. B. Hess, Mechanicsburg, 219; Grand Prelate, L. M. Eakin, Vandergrift 212; Grand Keeper of Records and Seals, C. P. Hall, McKeesport 10; Benjamin Moore, Pittsburgh 136; C. W. T. Robinson, Philadelphia 79; Grand Master of Exchequer, Henry F. Fox, Johnstown 219; Grand Master at Arms, O. G. Brennan, Harrisburg 207; Grand Inner Guard (No Election) A. J. Bell, Carbondale 5; Stanley Davis, Scranton 86; Frank L. English, Oil City 8; J. D. Eppley, Marysville 24; C. F. Jackson, Bellewood 18; C. S. Nagle, Beaver Falls, 84; Grand Outer Guard (No Election) Nicholas Alias, Chester 22; Arndt Brighton, Annville 11; Samuel Friedman, Pittsburgh 42; W. F. Kauderman, Lykens 51; Grand Trustee, Louis Lunch, Philadelphia 127; W. C. Malone, Monaca 93.

Present at the session of the grand lodge this morning were two North Beaver men, who are past chancellors and who have been members of the order for fifty years or more. One was D. M. Clark of Mt. Jackson, commander of Post No. 100 G. A. R., a past chancellor of Marietta Lodge and a present member of Social Lodge of New Brighton. He is 84 years of age and has been a member for more than fifty years. The other was Andrew Baird of Mt. Jackson, a member and past chancellor of Marietta Lodge who is 82 years of age and a member of the order for fifty years.

At the morning session of the Grand Temple, Pythian Sisters much of the time was consumed with the reading of various resolutions, among them being that putting into effect the new laws governing the Home for Aged Members at Kincoira, Pa., which was recently dedicated. This will have to be read two more times, after which action will be taken.

An invitation was extended to the Grand Temple to visit the Rieck-McJunkin Dairy Company plant this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock and accepted. The ladies will be entertained there and treated to ice cream and cake.

It is expected that the Grand Temple will convene in the action of the Grand Lodge in the selection of Carlisle as the 1931 meeting during the afternoon.

Annual election of officers will occur this afternoon and there will be but one contest, that for the position of Outer Guard, which is the starting point for those seeking the highest honors in the Grand Temple.

An interesting feature of the morning session of the Grand Lodge was the presentation to the Grand Temple of a Bible, bound in white leather, by John M. Snyder of Wilkinsburg. He was accompanied on the occasion of the presentation by J. W. Speakman of Lodge No. 114 and J. W. Rawson of Lodge No. 4.

Drought Serious In Mercer County

Less Than Half An Inch Of Rain
Has Fallen Since First
Of July

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 20.—Drought conditions in Mercer county have reached a stage where they are pathetic. Since the first week in July less than half an inch of rain has fallen. Residents who have been out over the state report the vicinity to be the worst seen. Not only are crops dying in the fields but if it goes on cattle will have to be sold. Springs that never failed are lowering. Less than 20 per cent of the streams in the county have enough water for cattle. The Neshannock, Shenango, the big streams east and west are reported the lowest in their history.

There is nothing in the weather line ever experienced that comes near it say the old timers. Some talk of the condition as a punishment. Rains all around are reported. Stormclouds appear at periodic intervals and pass away. There is talk of securing the services of a rain-maker.

TO ATTEND RODEO
The squad of state police with barracks here are planning to attend the rodeo in Butler if possible to get away on Labor Day the date of the event. Members of Troop D will display their trick horsemanship on this date. Many new stunts are being worked out by the men for the event.

900 DOGS SHOT
Nine hundred dogs were shot in Mercer county this year. The number is record-breaking says Agent Harry Higbee of the Bureau of Animal Husbandry. It is due to the dogs thrown out by people too poor to pay the license fee. Higbee says that several hundred of the number may be accounted for in this fashion. But 90 were prosecuted for failure to pay license, the lowest number yet.

MANY IN JUDGING CONTEST
Eight hundred boys and girls took part in the judging contest at State College last week. Mercer county placed fourth with its team of boys in the general livestock class. There were teams from 30 counties in the state. On the team were Clifford Montgomery, Harold King and Nevin Laver.

LET BRIDGE CONTRACT
James McPadden of Sharon was awarded the painting of the State street bridge in Sharon today by the commissioners. To R. S. Donnell of Hadley went the contract for the Mill street bridge in Sharon and the Claire France bridge in Sharpsville.

MOTORIST JAILED
Thomas Stewart of Farrell, charged with being a hit and run driver, was brought to the county jail today.

COOL LOVER RELEASED
Whoever coined "The course of true love never runs smooth" must have had in mind the courtship of Mary Kohut and David Amico of Farrell. Amico was released from jail on posting bond of $500. The amount was reduced from $5,000 by Judge J. A. McLaughlin following petition of Senator Ben Jarrett. Amico's attorney. The girl has sued for $50,000 breach of promise and had Amico arrested on a capias. Jarrett is now preparing affidavit of defense which he states will be interesting.

PREDICT SEVERE WINTER
An early winter and severe one is predicted by the goose gull feather prophets. They base this bulletin on the fact that the blackbirds are congregating for a trip south, which they insure the winter is an infallible sign. The same prophets are not quite so positive when pressed for dates and data. There has been a lowering of their prestige due to so many bad guesses on rain. They say in defence they are no worse than the U. S. weather bureau men.

BOOTLEGGERS PROTECTED
County bootleggers are making their appearance with a pilot car and guards armed with machine guns, say police. The new style is to protect themselves against hi-jackers and gangsters. There has been plenty of threats passing.

ORGANIZE TEAM
The last baseball team to organize in the county is that captained by Corporal Marcus White of the state police here. The nine will play the postal employ teams of which there are a half dozen in the county. The nine is made up entirely of cops recruited from the various police forces.

A replica of the cabin in which she lived has been erected in honor of the "Widow" Esther, first member of the Women's temperance organization in that section of the country, at the state park at Schoenbrunn, O. She was a deaconess of Ohio's first town, and died in 1780.

Divorced Men Band Together In Alimony Club

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—What America needs is a return to the domestic standards of the cotton stocking era in the opinion of three Chicago men who have filed articles of incorporation for the Alimony Club of America.

The purpose of the organization is "to bring about constant association with each other of men who have had domestic troubles" in order that they may find ways and means to gain equal rights for men in the divorce courts.

The three incorporators each of whom has either been cited for contempt or committed to jail for failure to pay alimony, are Oswald MacKie, John Murray and Philip Collins.

Further purposes to which the club members dedicate themselves, as set forth in the articles, are the following:

"To protect men and society in general against these called 'modern women' who consider marriage as a mere step incident to a suit for divorce that she and her kith and kin may collect alimony.

"To procure the enactment of laws providing that alimony may be paid to a wife only if she be ill or unable to support herself, and that such alimony be paid only for the duration of her illness or disability.

"To promote the surest means to discourage divorce—that is, to advocate a return by the women of the country to the virtues of the home and to thoughts of home living and home-making, and to such conduct and appearance as will bring a return of those virtues to our women.

"To discourage the present trend toward public indecency such as is prevalent today among women who practice habits and dress such as have always been those of women of disreputable character. To procure legislation making lewd and lascivious conduct and indecency of dress a ground upon which a man may divorce a woman.

"To promote an organization for the rights of men against the woman with modern ideas, so that the 'gold digger' may no longer be able to dig and that a man may have some assurance of a chance to marry a girl just like the girl that married dear old dad."

"To procure generally for all men the meager rights they have under the laws governing domestic difficulties."

Heroism Saves Crew of Sinking Liner

Reporting that she had lost a starboard propeller, the S. S. Tahiti (above) of the Union Steamship Company, signalled for assistance giving her posi-

Passengers Tell Of Rescue Work

Crews Of Sinking Steamer And Rescuer Recount Heroic Work

EVERY PERSON ON SHIP WAS SAVED

(International News Service)

PAGO PAGO, AMERICAN SAMOA, Aug. 20.—Passengers of the steamer Tahiti, brought here aboard the rescue ship Ventura, today told of the expert seamanship on the part of both captains which permitted the transfer of passengers and crew in a rough sea without a single casualty.

The rescue ship under the command of Captain W. R. Meyer steamed close to the Tahiti while the 252 persons were taken aboard in small boats. The passengers praised the coolness of Captain T. A. Totten of the Tahiti in keeping the foundering ship afloat until rescue arrived.

Working below decks and in darkness, the engineers and members of the steward's department rigged up emergency pumps and, with hand pumps and buckets, poured water from holds three and four in a desperate effort to keep the liner afloat. When Captain Totten and the last of the crew left the Tahiti the ship was foundering rapidly. The last of the crew left at 3:40 p. m. Sunday and an hour later the stern dipped beneath the surface. The Tahiti's bow was lifted aloft in the plunge downward, passengers said.

The survivors gave generous praise to the expert seamanship of Captain Meyer who directed his ship through a treacherous course in record time, without hesitating, the Ventura's captain ordered lifeboats launched and the dangerous work of transferring the Tahiti's passengers to the Ventura began.

The Penryn, whose equipment was inadequate to effect the transfer, stood by during the rescue and assisted with her lifeboats in transferring the passengers and crew.

That the Ventura arrived just in time to avert a catastrophe was indicated by the story of Captain Meyer. "We drove the ship at top speed through the heavy swell and sighted the Tahiti at 9:15 a. m. Sunday," he said.

"The passengers were trying to put on life packets as we arrived alongside at 10:30 a. m. Life boats were launched and were hovering about the Tahiti and we immediately started to pick up the passengers and crew."

The 'Unknown Farmer' May Get Recognition

(International News Service)

MADRID, Aug. 20.—An editorial in the newspaper "La Libertad" suggests that a monument be raised to the Unknown Farmer.

"The Unknown Farmer" this paper says, "as a symbol of the millions of farmers in Spain, past and present, is no less deserving of national recognition than the Unknown Soldier is among the nations who fought in the Great War. He too can be a hero—often is, especially in our country, where modern agricultural facilities and methods are none to common."

The paper goes on to say that a national monument as a token of the country's gratitude for the farmer would, among other things, raise his self-respect and probably would help stem migration from farms into cities, which in some cases is a result of a feeling of inferiority on the part of the farmer.

PAIN

There is no easy pain to bear. Who has an aching tooth will swear the toothache is life's chiefest curse—that naught man suffers can be worse yet just as loud a cry he'll make who awakens with a stomach ache.

The man who has a twisted knee in every twinge finds misery. Whatever be the form of pain until comes sweet relief again the sufferer is sure he knows the very worst of mortal woes.

And yet I fancy, had we powers to trade another's pain for ours we should not care such risk to run for like the bargain when 'twas done for pain, whatever be its source, has never lightly, but with force.

Who suffers pain has need of friends until his time of torture ends. Unhappy he, whatever the cause. Who in his misery finds no pause. What'er the source of man's despair, There is no easy pain to bear. (Copyright, 1930, Edgar A. Guest)

Sour Stomach

Sweetened instantly

Just a tasteless dose of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in water. That is an alkali, effective, yet harmless. It has been the standard antacid for 50 years among physicians everywhere. One spoonful will neutralize at once many times its volume in acid. It is the right way, the quick, pleasant and efficient way to kill the excess acid. The stomach becomes sweet, the pain departs. You are happy again in five minutes.

Don't depend on crude methods. Employ the best way yet evolved in all the years of searching. That is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Navy To Store Explosives In Midst Of Desert

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Uncle Sam is building his newest naval station in the middle of a desert.

A $3,500,000 affair, it is rearing itself out in western Nevada on the sand plains. After September 30, when it is completed, this new station will house thousands of pounds of high explosives, far from civilization. When completed, the giant storehouse will form one of the safest ammunition depots in the world, engineers estimated.

The depot will form a little city all by itself, isolated in the desert, but with a lake nearby for swimming and boating and all uses which a small contingent of naval officers stationed at the post desire. Its nearest civilized neighbor will be Reno, Nevada, 150 miles away.

In spite of its isolation, however, the little city, to be known as the Naval Ammunition Depot, Hawthorne, Nevada, is but five and a half miles from a single railway spur, thus making possible communication with and transportation to and from the outside world a matter of comparative ease.

When completed, the station will look like a wide expanse of sand dotted with half buried, giant eggs, the tops or domes of sunken ammunition magazines.

Due to the high explosive quality of the ammunition to be stored, the magazines will be built in separate plots, in groups of seven. Explosion of one group, engineers estimate, will not cause detonation of others because of this separation.

The new project came into being as a result of an effort to minimize danger to civilized communities from explosion of high explosives. The Lake Denmark, N. J., explosion in July, 1926, with its accompanying destruction and loss of life emphasized anew the necessity of isolating ammunition depots, and in spite of the discomforts to personnel involved, it was decided to locate a depot for the storing of surplus explosives left over from the war at such a spot as was chosen in Nevada.

The new depot was designed to serve the Pacific coast, and its site was chosen after naval experts inspected sites in California, Utah and Nevada and recommended the location finally used.

Rainfall averages less than three inches a year at the Hawthorne site of the new depot. Soil is well drained, and firm, and the sand and gravel supply was found to be ample.

A busy mining center used to be located near what is now the new depot, but now has become virtually deserted.

The depot project involved construction of 145 permanent buildings, a laundry, central heating and boiler plant, administration buildings, residences and barracks.

An auditorium was provided for recreational purposes, a school will be built, and repair shops, store-room, fire station, and a refrigerating plant.

Incomplete census returns from Mexico show that that country has about 20 per cent more women than men. In the Federal district in which Mexico City is located there are 111,154 more women than men.

Aged Jurist Takes First Airplane Ride

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 20.—Nearly seventy-five years of life on this earth were interrupted temporarily when Judge Jules E. Guinotte of Probate court, left the ground long enough to take an airplane ride over Kansas City.

It was the first air trip for the veteran Kansas City jurist. Although he foresaw the future of air transportation several years ago, he never before had stepped into anything other than an elevator to take him off the ground.

Fox Terrier Mothers Two Orphan Cats

(International News Service)
DENVER, Aug. 20.—Denver dogdom boasts of a fox terrier which is mothering two orphaned kittens.

Cappy, which is short for Mad Cap Mitz, which is the terrier's name—has dogland's animosity toward all other cats in the world, but toward the two little backyard waifs she has adopted, her attitude is quite different.

The dog and its wards are pets of Miss Olivia Tulbe.

"Don't you touch Snowflake," Miss Tulbe told the dog in emphatic manner when she brought Snowflake, part Angora, the kitten's mother, home as a new pet five months ago. So Cappy adopted Snowflake as a daily chum. Chummy they remained until Snowflake fell victim of a poisoner's bait, soon after the two white kittens were born.

Cappy looked on the motherless fluffy kits in the back porch box nest with considerable perplexity, her owner said. The kittens' father, as papa cats usually are—the wretches—is something of a traveling man. He showed no disposition to come around and assume the new family responsibility. Cappy seemed to appreciate the seriousness of the situation. Miss Tulbe said, and finally decided to set up an orphan's home and take care of them herself.

Cappy, a wire-haired fox terrier, is about to have some offspring of her own to take care of.

Dr. A. A. Hermann, veterinarian, termed the terrier's adoption of the kittens "decidedly unusual" and one of the few similar cases he has seen in Colorado.

New Haven Gives Up Baseball Ghost

(International News Service)
NEW HAVEN, Aug. 20.—After forty successful years professional baseball has passed from New Haven. Here once the National League was operating to paying crowds and the Connecticut state league and Eastern league were going affairs. But New Haven, like Hartford, which also once was a National League city, finally has been forced to admit the public doesn't care for minor league games. Hartford went under at the end of June and New Haven staved off the evil day for a fortnight. Yale baseball continues though it too is a losing proposition.

New Hampshire Town Pays No Property Tax

(International News Service)
CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 20.—Property taxes give residents of Hart location, a small town near here, no concern, its occupants not being required to pay a property tax.

The town which has fewer than a dozen inhabitants, receives "credits," chiefly on account of the railroad tax, that more than meets the town budget. The excess receipts over expenditures this year will be about $300. Taxable value of its property ranges from $60,000 to $80,000 depending upon the amount of cut lumber and wood subject to taxation in the town on the first of April.

Statue Of Joffre Causes Much Talk

(International News Service)
PARIS, Aug. 20.—The new statue of "Papa Joffre" which has just been inaugurated at Chantilly has probably caused more fury to flow from French pens than any which has been set within the confines of the country for many a day.

One writer says it is an offense to good French art, a veritable scandal and will give people good reason to believe in the decadence of French sculpture just at the moment when it is flourishing.

Another writes that it gives to the popular general a silhouette which was never his and that he himself should have protested against the erection of this statue.

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Aug. 20.—Natural scenic beauty is all right in its place but when it causes serious traffic tieups and the like it must be curtailed or done away with.

When automobile headlights were turned on the rock many persons said they observed the likeness of Virginia and Child.

Famous Old Mill Is Soon To Disappear

(International News Service)
PERRYOPOLIS, Pa., Aug. 20.—An historic landmark here, one of the country's few revolutionary period grist mills said to have been built by George Washington in 1772 seems destined to crumble into oblivion. Efforts to raise money to reconstruct the mill carried on by citizens of this town failed.

Until fourteen years ago the mill was used to grind meal for its owner, Oliver P. Smith. It was finally abandoned because of its ancient machinery and unprofitable milling.

Residents of Fayette county, Pennsylvania, in which the mill stands, for more than a century have credited the story that George Washington built the relic on land secured for him by his agent, Colonel William Crawford. Local historians claim it was used to provide meal for the Continental Army during the Revolutionary war. The structure was started in 1772 but was not completed until 1776.

Indian raids are said to have caused the long delay in the completion of the mill, soldiers and laborers being forced to divide their time between working on the structure and warding off Indian raids.

Tradition says that Washington owned the mill until 1792 when he sold it because he was unable to get a suitable miller to operate it in his absence. George Chambers was the purchaser and he later sold it to George Anderson. It was again sold this time to Samuel Smith, father of the present owner who is the only one to acquire the property through heredity.

For more than 150 years the mill ran almost continuously turning wheat into flour for its owners. From time to time a committee of citizens of Perryopolis attempted to interest national patriotic societies in its purchase but to no avail.

Today the mill stands in ruins. The big mill-wheel was wrecked by lightning once, time and hard usage have made it decrepit.

Careless Parisians To Be Punished

(International News Service)
PARIS, Aug. 20.—Paris pedestrians are going to be punished severely in the future if they don't watch their step. Prefect of Police Chiappe says that those who cannot cross streets safely and with due regard for the general welfare must take what they deserve and he has ordered his men to issue summonses. The days of crossing in mid-block and holding up stick or umbrella, as so many Frenchmen do, to stop traffic, have passed. Two new rules insist that crossings be made only in the special lanes and corners and that if there is no special lane, drivers will have right of way.

Connecticut Town Entirely Free Of Debt

(International News Service)
HADDAM, Conn., Aug. 20.—A town without a debt is the town of Haddam, nestled beside the broad Connecticut river, and because of the generosity of a citizen, the town has a new hall of records, made out of what once was an historic school house—Barnard academy.

"Your example should be followed by 168 other towns in Connecticut," Lieutenant Governor Ernest E. Rogers told the citizens when they dedicated the new town hall with great ceremony in mid-July.

How much reading we have done if it has not started any thinking.

Says Over-Exertion Threat To Long Life
(International News Service)
DENVER, Col., Aug. 20.—Modern flight and modern fancy have a detrimental effect on the heart, according to Dr. Irving S. Cutter, dean of Northwestern medical school, Evanston, Ill. "In their fast moving life, people don't realize the strain they put on the heart muscles," Dr. Cutter declared. "However, scientists today look forward to the time when the heart can be treated surgically just as the brain and other parts of the body can be successfully operated upon."

Dr. Cutter warns against over-exertion as one of the greatest threats against a long span of active life.

Even though you flush the pipes of your ice box with hot soapsuds regularly, the cups, traps, and other removable parts should be taken out occasionally for more thorough washing. Otherwise, the water droppings mixed with the dirt and debris of the ice will soon cause a slimy substance to stop up the pipes. This condition is insidious and produces a disagreeable odor.

Prison Baseball Team Suffers By Unfair "Trade"

By HAROLD HEROUX
International News Service Special Correspondent

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Aug. 20.—A baseball scandal was brewing today in California prisons.

If this is doubted, ask any of the 4400 experienced felon fans in San Quentin Prison.

In the jute mill, in the prison mess hall, in the yard—in fact, everywhere "within the walls," the word today was:

"What a raw deal for San Quentin!"

The deal referred to by the convicts was the "trade" arranged by the State Prison Board whereby two star players of the San Quentin baseball team, were sent to Folsom Prison—"up the river"—in exchange for two non-athletic prisoners.

George Malcarne, 27, San Francisco bandit and captain of the San Quentin nine, and Atley G. Burns, 25, Los Angeles thief were the two ordered transferred.

Captain Malcarne, a hard-hitting outfielder, and Burns, a flashy first baseman, have been mainstays of the fast penitentiary nine, which this season has scored an impression record against semi-pro clubs in the San Francisco Bay region.

Two young Folsom prisoners are slated to take the stars places in the cells here. The felon fans fear that neither can fill the shoes of either Malcarne or Burns.

The "trade" was explained today by Warden James B. Holohan. He discovered that the prison directors decided to send Malcarne and Burns "up state to the reformatory penitentiary" because the pair are "two time losers." The young "first timers," sent to Folsom Prison by mistake, are to be transferred here.

Because they were caught and convicted on charges of escaping while employed at prison road camps, the baseball-playing convicts have been ordered to Folsom, where they will serve additional terms after the current sentences expire.

The San Quentin nine has been badly weakened this season by paroles and pardons. But today's "trade" was the severest blow rendered the team.

The loss of captain Malcarne was felt keenly. Since he was incarcerated in 1924, he has been an outstanding player, and he was serving a 15-year term, the fans were assured of his services until 1939.

Burns "contract" was not to expire until 1933.

Re-organization of the team was being discussed today by Gusie (Sawdy) Poulson, president of the San Quentin Prison Baseball Club, Poulson, who plays in the outfield, and Bob Brown, third baseman, are the new "board of strategy." Each is serving a life term for murder.

Barbers In Favor Of Closed Sunday

Oppose Any Move To Modify Pennsylvania Blue Laws

PENNSYLVANIA, Aug. 20.—Pennsylvania Blue Laws are all right as far as the Associated Pennsylvania Master Barbers are concerned.

At their annual session here they voted against modification of the State's Blue Laws if such modification prove the opening wedge to make the tonsorialist work on Sundays.

S. L. Sweeney, Lancaster delegate, who holds a license to preach, presented the resolution, which was adopted after some debate.

It reads that the Associated Master Barbers of Pennsylvania "go on record to defend the barber from Sunday slavery and against all unnecessary labor."

Charles A. Minnetti, of Pittsburgh, was elected president, and Lancaster chosen as the city for the 1931 convention. Other officers are: First vice president, A. W. Farley, Lewisburg;

Louis physician and surgeon often told Mrs. Spiros, now living in Denver, but at that time a trained nurse in St. Louis.

When the surgeon died in St. Louis, his attorney informed Mrs. Spiros, who has been confined to a bed for seven months, that he had willed her $10,000 in money and a beautiful home in St. Louis.

But the same clause of the will which states she is to receive the money and the home, also states that she can receive neither until she is fifty years old.

Mrs. Spiros now is only 40, and incapacitated to follow her profession of nursing. She needs the money, she says, so that she may rest and regain in her health.

"It's the irony of fate," she said, smiling. "When he told me that I would need money at 50 I was in perfect health and giving my best to my work. I wondered why he often said that to me, never dreaming, of course, that he would leave me money and a home, and never dreaming that one day I should be in need."

Mrs. Spiros came to Denver six years ago. For twelve years she was an investigator for the Ben C. Applegate Detective Agency of St. Louis.

New Tariff May Aid Dull Pottery Trade

Head Of Union Says Higher Rates Will Curb Imports From Abroad

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Aug. 20.—A stimulus to the nation's pottery industry is expected by Ohio potters to result from the Hawley-Smoot tariff law.

James M. Duffy, president of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, believes increased duties in the measure will reduce the amount of ware from such producers as Japan, Germany, Czechoslovakia, France and even Great Britain.

Benefits to American industry, he said, probably will not be realized before September 1.

Before enactment of the law, imports laid in large stocks of foreign ware, and some time will be required to dispose of it.

Under the new tariff old ad valorem rates of 45 per cent on plain and 50 per cent on decorated earthenware, and 60 and 70 per cent on decorated and undecorated chinaware, are retained, with an additional new tariff of 10 cents a dozen pieces.

During the past year most American ceramic plants have operated on a part-time basis.

RADIO FEATURE NOW OFFERS "BACK FENCE CABINET"

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Amplification of the "back fence cabinet," is one of the latest and most noteworthy services being rendered by the radio. These honey conferences, for years the butt of humorists, professional and otherwise, have in reality been one of the most fruitful means of developing the culinary accomplishments of the American homemaker known to the country.

Messengers of the air have now undertaken to glorify this humble but fine old custom. The Radio Household Institute, which broadcasts daily over Station WEAF in New York City and 32 associated stations throughout the country, on housewives' problems, has devised a bigger and better system of housewives' cabinets, by the exchange.

Housewives throughout the country and wherever the radio is heard, are invited to send queries and recipes for their favorite cakes. These are broadcasted and mailed to interested homemakers in all parts of the world, thus giving everyone the benefit of innumerable back fence and kitchen conferences, where formerly they were limited to a few.

Through the agency of the institute's new exchange the recipe for one of Germany's most famous cakes, "Topf Kuchen," has been made available for all housewives. It is expected that the expansion of this plan will enable the family cook to be in possession of the famous cake secrets of all parts of the country and other countries as well as enhance the development of one of America's greatest home industries, cake baking.

The Parent Problem

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Grow Better As Parents Every Day

There is no such thing as just a child. He is three months old or 20 years. He is your child or mine, the child of Mr. and Mrs. Crow, or Mr. and Mrs. Lee, or with one or both parents dead or with one or both grandparents or aunt or other relatives living in the home or near by, or with no relatives near; a child with no playmates of his age, with few, or with many; with playmates he gets on well with or does not get on well with; a child with good health habits and good habits of restraint or with those not so good; a child who is mothered very much or not so much, who is or is not supervised, who has few or little independence; who has few or many fears; who is well or poorly understood by his parents and by other adults; who has much or little opportunity to create and to express himself, who learns slowly or learns fast; who has little or much of the spirit of sportsmanship; a child who co-operates to some degree, controls himself to some degree, cries or smiles might vow to others that they haven't and although they may not be conscious of their favoritism. A child in school is not just a child but a pupil of Miss Mills, of Miss Bell or of several teachers toward whom he has a certain feeling of attraction or repulsion.

The child who recites before the teacher is not a mere creature there who sits in the third seat, whose name begins with C, and appears as the sixth one on the class register. He is a sacred personality tied by heart-strings to his home.

If a hundred persons were to name the items of contact with the child which shape his destiny, the picture they would give would be as of a grain of sand upon the seashore. How wondrously complex, how past our understanding, are all the countless forces which conspire to make your child or mine the child he is.

When we realize these facts we ought not to be too much discouraged when we grow aware of our inability to know our child. Nevertheless, by constant, conscious efforts we can grow in wisdom and in understanding, with the hope that we as parents may become a little better day by day. But let us not look for miracles as we go working on ourselves.

Health authorities who advise people to maintain a calm mental state by thinking of next winter are receiving the hearty co-operation of coal dealers.—The Louisville Courier-Journal.

Judge May Rule 'Tom Thumb' Golf A Public Nuisance

HARRISBURG, Aug. 20.—A Tom Thumb golf course in a residential section would be an "objectionable structure" and a "public nuisance," Judge E. M. Biddle, Jr., of Carlisle, sitting in the Dauphin county court, ruled tentatively today. He expressed his opinion in continuing a preliminary injunction halting construction of a golf course in which the residents have filed legal proceedings against the proposed course. The judge announced his decision was not final, and said his views might be changed later. So William B. Mears of St. Paul predicted the drought a year ago, did he? Let us hope he is happy about it; no one else is.—The Washington Evening Star.

PREDICTS RADIO SALES TALK BAN

Engineer Sees Government Control To Halt 'Blatant' Advertising

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 20.—Blatant advertising of the direct sales talk variety will lead to government regulation of radio unless it is voluntarily curbed, Dr. Lee DeForest, pioneer radio engineer, predicted here at the first international convention of the Institute of Radio Engineers. "We have certain fine outstanding examples of sponsored programs to whose indirect industrial messages none need object," DeForest said, "but such are deplorably few and becoming fewer. Unless this evil is voluntarily curbed, we are headed straight for government regulation, possibly censorship, with all the evils and all the benefits of government control." "The possible alternative for government regulation, DeForest continued, is wired radio into private homes, the subscriber to pay a fee to be freed from advertising, static, fading and interference of every kind. "The wired radio era lies ahead in any event," he said. "I am willing seriously to take what reputation I may have as a prophet on this prediction. It rests largely with the attitude of the radio advertiser and how rapidly this situation will come upon us."

Hold New Yorker For Stealing New Castle Man's Automobile

D. Roy Bradford's Car Taken By Paramount Hotel Doorman At Entrance

(Special To The News)
NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Accused of taking a New Castle automobile for a "joy ride," Walter Vickers, aged 26, doorman at the Paramount hotel here, must stand trial on a charge of grand larceny.
The car was owned by D. Roy Bradford of New Castle, who arrived in New York City Monday night and went to the Paramount hotel. He turned the machine over to the doorman and asked him to have it placed in a garage for the night. Vickers was arrested by Patrolman Dominick Paolo at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday morning at 125th street and Third avenue. The hotel is located at 235 West 46th street. The patrolman noticed Vickers driving in an uncertain manner and stopped him for questioning. Paolo then learned that the doorman did not have a driver's license and that he was driving in comparative foreign territory in his search for a garage. Magistrate Edward Weil adjourned the case for later hearing when Vickers was arraigned Tuesday.

Rev. A. J. Shoemaker At Gardner Chapel

Evangelistic Services Being Conducted By One Known As
"Boy Evangelist"

Rev. A. J. Shoemaker, B. S. Litt., of this city, who is conducting the Sunday evening services at Gardner Chapel, may be induced to remain in this district for some time, if there are enough calls for evangelistic services to warrant his staying.

Rev. Shoemaker, when he began his ministry, was known as the "boy preacher", having entered the pulpit at the age of fourteen. He is a graduate of the Pike's Peak Theological Seminary with the degree of Bachelor of Sacred Literature.

He is often referred to as the man with a four square gospel as he will preach in any church that calls on him for service. He is affiliated with the Pike's Peak Seminary of Colorado, extension department and will return to that city to continue his work, after his services are finished here.

There are many small town churches in existence today through the means of his ministry and many city churches throughout the east will not soon forget the results of his work.

Old Timers Are Out Of Work

(International News Service)
MORELEY, Colo., Aug. 20.—Fifty-two "old-timers" are out of jobs here, and Moreley Mine is facing its greatest labor problem in years as a result.

Paradoxically enough, the "old-timers" don't seem to mind being out of work. They are wandering over the hillsides, eating grass and braying occasionally to show that they enjoy their enforced vacation.

Many of them have been working in the mines for years, but with the installation of an electrical haulage system at Moreley, two trolley locomotives began doing the work formerly done by the 52 mules and the "old-timers" found themselves out of jobs.

Most of the "old-timers" have distinguished names. There is hardly an official of the company whose name some one of them does not answer to. Dr. H. Emery, veterinarian, now is examining the mules, and later they will be sold or employed by other mine companies.

Paris Auction Rooms In Prolonged Slump

(International News Service)
PARIS Aug. 20.—Business has never been so bad at the well-known Hotel

Drouot, Paris' great auction-rooms, as during this past month of June, according to recent reports.

Art collections of second and third choice are the only ones which have met with any successful buyers. Large dealers such as Lair-Dubreuil have refused to put on sale some forty millions of art objects hoping for better times and fatter pocketbooks next winter. Thus, a few of France's works of art will remain in the country for a year or so at least.

Gen. MacArthur One Of Army's Noted Figures

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Major General Douglas MacArthur, who succeeds Major General John L. Hines in command of the Ninth Corps Area, is one of the most picturesque figures in the American Army.

Also, he is no stranger to California. Born at Little Rock, Arkansas, in 1880, MacArthur was graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1903 at the head of his class, was assigned to the engineers corps and got to San Francisco just in time to perform valiant service following the holocaust which destroyed the city in 1906.

He will leave his present post in command of the Philippine department, where he will be succeeded by General Hines, and take up his tour of duty here at the Presidio of San Francisco in October of this year.

General MacArthur wears both the distinguished service medal and the distinguished service cross, bestowed by the government of the United States for gallantry during the World War, as well as decorations of the French, Belgian and Italian governments.

During the late war he was chief of staff of the Forty-second (Rainbow) division and an infantry brigade commander in that noted division.

In 1916 he was a staff officer with Major General Fred Funston in Mexico and at one time was superintendent at West Point.

He was commissioned a brigadier general in 1920 and a major general in 1925.

General MacArthur comes from a family illustrious in American army circles, his father, Arthur MacArthur, having been a lieutenant general of Spanish-American and Philippine Insurrection fame.

His new command, the North Corps Area, embraces Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Nevada, Montana, Utah, Wyoming, California and Alaska.

Horned Caterpillars Invade Deserts

(International News Service)
RENO, Nevada, Aug. 20.—Back to the trenches until next spring!

This today appeared to be the program of an army of horned caterpillars upon desert vegetation in parts of southern, western and northern Nevada, according to reports to the Nevada University agricultural extension service county agents.

It is reported that little or no damage was caused irrigated crops. The worms confined their depredations largely to desert plants, although some range feed was devoured by the hungry little armies.

The great numbers of caterpillars in Nevada this year was attributed to the profusion of spring flowers on the desert, which it is said, attracted the moths. The insect at the moth stage, according to the scientists, hover around flowering plants in the manner of a humming bird, sucking the nectar from the flowers with very long tongues.

Representative caterpillars were collected and sent to the United States department of agriculture's bureau of entomology for positive identification and for control information should the army next summer attack Nevada's irrigated crops. The worms were sent air mail and were said to have been the first of the breed to receive an airplane ride across the United States.

Chicago Dog Has Own Telephone Number

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—If anyone should happen to call Ardmore 3072 in Chicago, he probably will be answered by a hearty "woof-woof" for that number belongs to a dog. Pussiewillow Thornton is the name of the only canine registered in the telephone directory. She is owned by Mrs. Bertha Slots Thornton. Several years ago Mrs. Thornton had a cat, called Gutt, who had a private phone, as well as a checking account. Mrs. Thornton wrote stories about the cat and sold them, putting the money in the bank under Gutt's name.

When the cat disappeared Mrs. Thornton purchased Pussiewillow and Pussiewillow is listed in the directory in the theory that animals are as human as people.

Road And Bridge Contracts Are Let In County

State Awards Contracts For Two Bridges And Short Stretch Of Highway

TWO BRIDGES ARE ON PERRY HIGHWAY

Work Will Be Completed This Fall On Projects To Be Built By State

Contracts were awarded on Monday for the construction of two bridges on the Perry Highway in Lawrence county, and approximately two miles of roadway in Plaingrove township, by the State Highway department, according to word received here today.

Construction work will be started on these projects immediately and should be completed before winter sets in.

The one bridge will consist of three forty-five foot spans, with a roadway clearance of 30 feet between curbs, to be built over the Western Allegheny tracks at Grant City.

The other bridge is a two span structure of 90 feet with a clear roadway of 30 feet between curbs, to be built over Muddy Creek.

Bids were also let for the necessary approaches to these two structures, one of which is to be concrete and the other bituminous treated macadam.

The road for which the contract was let is located in Plaingrove township, between the Harlinsburg-Slippery Rock road and the Plaingrove community. It will be constructed of bituminous treated macadam, 18 feet in width. Bids were also let for the grading of approximately 50 linear feet of roadway to be 28 feet wide in connection with this project.

COURT DECREE SAYS PINCHOT IS NOMINEE

nounced a written opinion would be handed down within a few days the per curiam order merely signifying the will of the court. The opinion is expected to cover several pages and will deal with all the angles of Brown's appeal.

Brown through his followers in Luzerne county had attempted to have declared illegal all the ballots cast in that county because they had been perforated in the margins with numerals to prevent fraud. The common pleas court of Luzerne dismissed his case and he appealed to the higher court. The decision today affirming the lower court thus disposes of the attempt to have the 60,000 ballots of the county declared void and thus give the Republican gubernatorial nomination to Brown.

Pinchot carried the state by 20,000 votes and Luzerne county by 26,000 votes. Thus the loss of these 26,000 votes would have given Brown the nomination by 6,000 votes.

The immediate effect of the decision was to cause a stir among leaders of the republican organization throughout the state. The formal inauguration of the state campaign had been held up pending the settlement of the dispute and following the announcement today state general Edward C. Martin is expected to formally launch the state-wide campaign.

Usually in Philadelphia it has been the custom of the state committee to meet and formally endorse the nominees of the primary soon after the results are announced. But this year that endorsement was withheld pending settlement of the dispute. There also has been some disaffection among wet republicans here over what appeared to be Pinchot's victory and many were reported secretly favoring John J. Hemphill, the wet democratic and liberal party candidate. The decision today means the question of whether or not the local organization will line up solidly behind Pinchot will occupy the attention of all the leaders here for the next few days.

FOUR HUNDRED ACRE SITE IS PURCHASED

formerly with the Nobel interests of England, and the Atlas or Actina Powder company, this country; Paul Forney, formerly plant superintendent of The Grasse Chemical Powder company at Seneca, Ill., and now assistant superintendent of the Trojan mill, will occupy the position of plant superintendent after completion of the mill. J. Y. Carson, who was formerly plant auditor at Seneca, will occupy the same position here. J. W. Shuler, who was assistant construction superintendent to Mr. Harlan over all the former construction enterprises, will be retained in the same position. S. C. Stoner, chief electrical engineer for the former company for many years, will continue in the same capacity. Messrs. Carson, Shuler and Stoner were associated with Mr. Harlan in operating at the old plant at the time of the World war.

At Opportune Time. Well known to the trade as a successful organizer and manufacturer, J. S. Burton returns to New Castle at an opportune time. With employment generally at a low ebb, the addition of an initial construction and operating payroll for a large number of men will have a marked effect on local trade.

Burton history in this community has been a steady mounting record of success. Experience of 32 years in the explosives field, starting with The Burton Powder company in Pennsylvania, is the reason advanced for the claim that Burton is the oldest name in the country operating exclusively in the explosives industry.

The increase in the use of high explosives in work where black powder had formerly been employed, brought about the organization of The American High Explosives company, of which J. S. Burton was secretary and treasurer up to 1917.

During the war The Burton-Richards company was formed for the manufacture of T. N. T., and as head of this concern, Mr. Burton played a prominent part in the wartime production of munitions in the United States.

A merger with The Grasse Chemical Powder company as a wholly owned subsidiary, with J. S. Burton as president, produced a chain of high explosives factories, which included units in Cameron, Walford and New Castle, Pa., and Seneca, Ill. The last named plant has been recognized by the trade as being the "last word" in dynamite plants, and the best factory of its kind in the country. Rumors are now afloat to the effect that the du Pont interests, present owners of the Seneca plant, are about to extend the facilities along the lines originally laid out by J. S. Burton, who was responsible for its original layout and construction.

The operations of The Grasse Chemical Powder company were marked by an increase from 6,000,000 pounds of dynamite per annum, manufactured in 1917, to 27,000,000 pounds during 1927, putting Mr. Burton's organization second in sales and production only to the du Pont, Atlas and Hercules companies, all of which are located at Wilmington, Del.

J. S. Burton is a member of the Duquesne club of Pittsburgh and the Union, Shaker and Athletic clubs of Cleveland.

Would Honor Founder. A resolution was adopted providing that the Pennsylvania state council introduce and encourage a movement to have a life-sized monument erected at the Carpenter's Home in Lakeland, Fla., as a memorial to Peter J. McGuire, the founder of the Carpenter's Organization and the father of Labor Day in the United States.

It is proposed that the general office have charge and arrange for a call for voluntary contributions from all state councils, district councils, local unions, and members in such sums as they wish to donate.

The dedication is proposed for the fiftieth anniversary of the United Brotherhood in 1931 or at the general convention in 1932.

A resolution was also offered asking that the legislative committee of the state council be instructed to do all in its power toward the revival of a campaign to secure a Federal Child Labor Act.

Protest State Contracts. A resolution was also offered protesting the letting of state contracts to southern contractors, who have imported southern workers into Pennsylvania to carry on their work, which in some cases has worked against the standards of employment in some parts of the state.

A resolution was also offered instructing the legislative committee of the state council to take up the question of unemployment caused by an age limit being placed by employers of labor by companies carrying compensation insurance, which has militated against men above the middle age. This matter will be placed before the officers of the state Federation of Labor.

Delegates to the convention were royally entertained at Cascade Park on Tuesday afternoon, where they were the guests of Shenango and Beaver Valley council at their annual picnic.

Work was suspended in the valley and a great number of carpenters from Lawrence and Beaver counties, together with their families enjoyed a basket picnic at the park, close to 500 being present.

Dancing was enjoyed during the afternoon at the pavilion and a program of sports was also carried out. This afternoon's session will be devoted to reports from district councils and local unions throughout the state.

BONUS SYSTEM IS TOPIC IN MERGER CASE

Director States He Had Vague Idea Of Bonus System Which Was Used

(International News Service) YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 20.—After a brief intermission yesterday in which another crack was taken at the Bethlehem Steel corporation bonus system, attorneys opposing the merger of the concern, with Youngstown Sheet & Tube company today resumed their attack in common pleas court here against the terms of the consolidation.

Recalling Henry G. Dalton, director in both Sheet & Tube and Bethlehem, to the witness stand yesterday, anti-merger attorneys elicited an admission from the financier that he had a vague knowledge of the Bethlehem bonus system under which Eugene G. Grace has received more than $1,000,000 a year as president.

Dalton said, however, that he did not mention the bonus system to Sheet & Tube directors prior to their approval of the merger contract, but that he would have "had it come to my mind."

The witness testified that he had known on March 12 what he knows today of the bonus system, he would have told the Sheet & Tube directors about it "because it had become an important topic and should be discussed."

During this testimony, Judge David G. Jenkins, who is hearing the suit against the merger, interposed the remark that "the question of the amounts paid under the bonus system and their propriety has absolutely nothing to do with the question this court has to determine."

The question here," Judge Jenkins said, "is simply whether its operation and its effect on the combined properties should or should not have been given as information to the Youngstown directors before they passed on the merger, and in the second place to the stockholders before they voted on its ratification."

Many Reports Of Mrs. McPherson

Rumors Vary As To Cause Of Condition Of Woman Evangelist

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 20.—Out of the welter of reports concerning Aimee Semple McPherson, noted evangelist, and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, the public today mulled over a series of rumors which ran the gamut from the somewhat bizarre charge of "snake-throwing" to broken noses and "face-lifting."

With both Mrs. McPherson and her mother under the care of physicians, the situation was a mass of contradictions. From Angelus Temple sources came word that Mrs. McPherson was "near death" in her closely guarded Malibu Beach cottage.

Her physician, Dr. Edward M. Williams, stated, however, that her condition was not serious and that she would probably be up in a day or two.

Reports that Mrs. McPherson was blind were denied by Dr. Williams. Meanwhile Mrs. Kennedy is at a Brentwood sanitarium, where she is being treated for a broken nose. She accused her daughter of smiting her on that organ.

Mrs. Kennedy said she and her daughter quarreled over reports concerning the evangelist and her secretary, Miss Mae Weldon.

"She called me to her house," said Mrs. Kennedy. "She acted as if she were wild when I got there. She accused me of talking about Miss Weldon and herself. I denied this, but I did tell her I said something about some of her associates."

PAY GUARDSMEN TONIGHT Lieutenant Harvey G. Bluntn announced Tuesday that New Castle members of the Pennsylvania National Guard will receive their camp pay at the armory this evening.

Robbers Loot Cigar Store

Robbers Escape With Cigarettes Totalling $14,000; Safe Untouched

Believe Robbers Haul Cigarettes On Truck; Use Rope To Enter

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Aug. 20.—Lowering themselves on a rope through a hole cut in the floor of an apartment above, robbers looted the N. Rice Cigar Company store at 1635 Fifth avenue early today and escaped with $14,000 worth of cigarettes.

Discovery of the robbery was made when employees of the store arrived this morning to open the place for business.

The loot apparently was loaded on a truck waiting in the alleyway in the rear of the building and hauled away. The robbers obtained entrance to the apartment above the store by breaking the lock on the front door.

Two safes in the office of the wholesale tobacco concern were untouched.

About nine years ago the Rice Company was robbed. Loot at that time consisted only of cigars and cigarettes.

Largest Sub Boasts Many Safety Devices

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Fitted with new safety devices aimed to make impossible such undersea tragedies as befell the S 4 and S 51, the United States navy's largest submarine—the V-5—is now ready for sea.

There is an extra "lung" aboard for every member of her crew of seven officers and eighty enlisted men. There are three escape hatches, so arranged that in case of an emergency it will be possible to save the entire crew.

One escape hatch is through the conning tower and the others forward and aft from the torpedo room. A series of compartments or escape locks are built in these hatches.

In the event of the vessel being disabled, the members of the crew with the extra "lungs" pass through these series of locks. At the last lock there is a door which permits escape from the vessel.

When a man leaves, this door can be closed from the inside, after which the water is pumped from this compartment and the other members of the crew advance into it. This procedure is repeated until every man has left the ship.

The latest pride of the submarine fleet is 371 feet long, 33 feet beam and has a draft of 16 feet. Her specially designed propelling equipment built by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, delivers power to each of the two shafts driving the propellers on the surface or submerged.

The air conditions are pure and there is a greater amount of room available than in any previous American submarine built.

In the nerve center of the sub—the control room—there is a "metal mike", periscopes, and a bank of valves which control every piece of machinery on board.

Between each bulkhead there is a complete set of automatic and manual controls which permit the vessel to be maneuvered from a number of places in case of emergency.

These controls also operate the ventilating system, the diving and raising machinery as well as the communication system.

The V-5, following her trial off Rockland, Maine, is due to go to her base on the Pacific coast, becoming a unit of the Pacific Submarine Division number 20 at San Diego, Cal.

Two Youths Are Convicted In Twenty Hours

(International News Service)

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 20.—Within 20 hours after two Toronto youths had held up and robbed a branch bank of the Royal Bank of Canada here of $2,200, they had been captured, tried, convicted and on Tuesday were sentenced to eight years imprisonment and 30 lashes.

The lashes are to be administered to both prisoners at intervals during the first 18 months of their incarceration.

Murray's colony was in southeastern Bolivia. The country is excellent, but conditions were so primitive that the settlers refused to remain.

Several efforts have been made to identify women of shattered mentality as the daughter of the czar, but all of them have failed to definitely establish proof.

State Geologists Make Gravel Survey

(International News Service)

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 20.—Survey of gravel deposits through the state is under way under the direction of Prof. James W. Goldthwait, geologist of Dartmouth College assisted by Geo. W. Whittier, professor of geology at the University of New Hampshire, R. J. Lougee, Richard P. Goldthwait and L. W. Page of Dartmouth and Seth Lamson also of New Hampshire University.

The object of the survey was to determine the extent and number of gravel deposits which will be mapped in detail on topographic sheets and wherever the quality of gravel in a deposit was not definitely known, samples were taken for analysis. As accurate as possible an estimate was made of quantity.

One reason for the survey was to locate gravel suitable for use in mixing concrete in places where it will furnish a convenient source of supply for crews employed in highway construction. Commercial possibilities of deposits near railroad lines also were considered.

Couple Purchase Lindy's Birthplace

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Aug. 20.—The birthplace of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh here, a large brownstone brick house was recently sold to Mr. and Mrs. William Bailes who said they planned to keep it as "an investment."

The facade of the house bears a bronze tablet marking it as one of the city's historic places. It is three stories high, contains 13 rooms and, in its day was an elaborate dwelling.

It wouldn't be the land of the free if it wasn't so easy to get out on bail.

Dr. T. B. Appel Warns About Athlete's Feet

"A firm foundation is the prime essential in all construction. Lacking it, the building collapses. Strange to say, this very evident fact is quite disregarded by many thousands of persons so far as their own bodies are concerned. Or to express it slightly differently, when it comes to feet vanity rather than comfort is in a large number of cases likely to prevail," said Doctor Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health, today.

"Tight shoes with high heels, being the mode, are worn by the feminine contingent, resulting frequently in bunions, in-growing nails, fallen arches with their attendant evils, hammer-toes and corns. Men, also, prodded by an over-developed sense of neatness, will crowd their pedal extremities into undersized shoes, with foot troubles following as a natural consequence. And for results such as these, men and women have but themselves to blame.

"On the other hand, there is a foot affliction of which one hears and reads much these days. It is called athlete's foot. This condition cannot be blamed upon the imperious dictates of fashion and conceit, nor upon the foolishness of the victims. It is a much bigger problem than that. However, a distinction must be drawn between two conditions that are somewhat alike.

"Real athlete's foot is a parasitic infestation manifesting itself in other skin regions as the commonly known ring-worm. The organism causing the trouble is apparently quite at home in some public shower baths, and floors attached to swimming pools, gymnasiums and golf clubs—hence the name.

"Indeed, quite recently a survey was made at one of the largest universities in the country, and of the 3100 freshman entrants examined, 52 per cent of the men and 15 per cent of the women had ring-worm of the feet, thus showing its prevalence among high and preparatory school students. The use of bathing shoes appears to be the only real preventive, although a careful washing of the feet with soap and water followed by a thorough drying is by some considered to be sufficient. However, if suffering with this complaint, medical advice should be obtained and followed. Self-treatment will not avail.

"A condition which is in a measure similar to the ring-worm manifestation is due to the enervation that many persons experience in hot weather. The entire system 'lets down' and is therefore relaxed. Sweating feet often result, which causes the skin between the toes and under them to crack and even bleed. Local treatment such as bathing the extremities in cold water, using an astringent powder and subjecting the feet to sunbaths can often be employed successfully. Persistent conditions of this type, however, require medical attention.

"The real thing to keep in mind is that your feet are your best friends. You can not be too solicitous about them. Don't permit vanity or carelessness to get the better of them. Keep your foundation firm."

Bo-Broadway by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press
NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—There's a shop in New York where they employ as salespeople only college graduates. Taken in the main they're a total loss. They are afflicted with "the snobbery of the insecure."

The snobbery of the insecure is born of a desire to better one's status in the world; and fed by vanity (as is the case with the college-bred clerks) it becomes a driving force which falsifies and undermines all sincerity.

The dignity of any job, no matter how modest or menial, is measured by the self-respect of the worker.

DRUG STORE BREAKFASTS

Now that women have come out of the kitchen, the stove men, icebox men and pot and pan peddlers are trying to coax them back again with all sorts of fancy and multi-colored kitchen contraptions.

If they ever do go back, and the drug-store breakfast slides into the discard, here's hoping they throw the new-fangled stuff out the window and get things going there the way they used to, including the old coffee pot on the bone-legged coal range.

I've had coffee out of many a queer-looking modern percolating contrivance, but none of it ever equalled the Matutinal Mocha maw used to produce in that battered coffee pot of hers.

Mark Twain's friend, Mr. Bellow, passed up his coffee on the ground that it was "too technical." That seems to be the trouble with the new culinary adjuncts. The kitchen is the one room in the house that cannot survive without the human touch.

REAL CHARITY

Eleventh avenue is a rough part of town. It's crowded with dingy shops, grimy kids and "hard guys." Freight cars clank in segments of its stretches. Its grim tenements thrive without benefit of plumbing. You never see "nice people" on Eleventh avenue.

The other day over there, fire destroyed the three-room suite of a widow and her six children. At 10 o'clock that morning they had a "home," such as it was. At 11 o'clock they were on the sidewalk, destitute. There's a fellow named Harry Beatus—not that his name makes any difference—an eccentric sort o' cuss—who operates a little side-wheel grocery shop in the neighborhood. He stretches credit for families who are up against it—you know, common people out of work, who just can't seem to understand that fundamental conditions in America are safe and sound.

Harry Beatus, seeing the widow and her kids on the sidewalk, bundled them into his shop where he gave them something to eat and then went out and started a fund to get the family new quarters and some furniture.

Imagine a man neglecting his business for something he wasn't ever going to realize a nickel on. How does a fellow like that ever expect to get along?

Yeah, and the world's full o' them!

ARCHITECTS' CREDITS

The architects are out for recognition. If painters sign their canvases and sculptors chisel their monickers on the bases of their bronzes and marble; if comic-strip artists get their names on the line with the captions, why aren't the creators of outstanding buildings entitled to credit on the corner stones or, at least, on bronze plates in the lobbies?

Today, custom is to name the structure after its owner, the man who supplied the money for its erection. Thus, our big buildings are just so many houses—that-jack-built. There's no individuality suggested in the name. Chrysler and Woolworth and Bush—merely names of men who have stacked up golden hoards in trade and finding themselves with more money than they know what to do with, have invested in towers of stone and steel. If the names of the architects were associated with the Chrysler Building, the Woolworth Building and the Bush Building there might be something more vital and human about them.

It hardly seems right that the man who wrote "The Specialist" should be famous, while the genius who designed The Liberty is buried under tons of oblivion.

This Young Matron Gives Burglar 'Kayo'

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Young and athletic Mrs. Anna Gavenda returned from marketing to her apartment and said she found Nicholas Gigliardo, an undersized middle-aged man, packing up her silver and jewelry.

Mrs. Gavenda jiu-jitsu'd him, threw him to the floor, knelt, his chest, slapped his face and he promised to be good and then sent a neighbor for a policeman.

From the evidence before us, it is difficult to believe that there are only 25,000 miniature golf courses in the United States. The St. Louis Daily Globe-Democrat.

2. Nathanael Greene—The Quaker Recruit

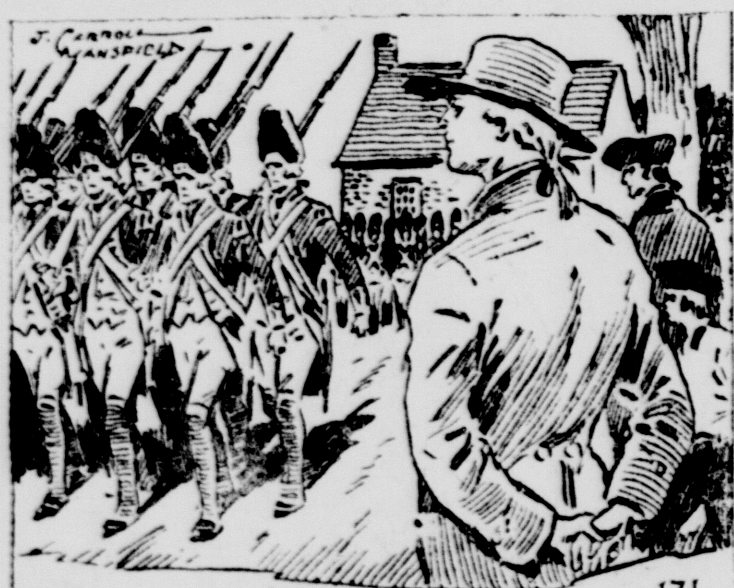

WHEN NATHANAEL GREENE ENLISTED IN THE RHODE ISLAND MILITIA HE DID NOT OWN A MUSKET AND HAD TO PRACTICE THE MANUAL OF ARMS WITH A PITCHFORK.

NO FIRE-ARMS WERE TO BE HAD IN COVINGTON, THE VILLAGE WHERE HE LIVED, SO GREENE SET OUT FOR BOSTON, WHERE HE WAS SURE HE COULD BUY A FLINTLOCK.

REACHING HIS DESTINATION, GREENE FOUND THE STREETS CROWDED WITH GENERAL GAGE'S REDCOATS AND THE PATRIOTS OF BOSTON CHAFING UNDER BRITISH MARTIAL LAW.

HE WATCHED THE BRITISH REGULARS DRILLING ON THE COMMON AND, THOUGH THEY WERE THE ENEMIES OF HIS COUNTRY, COULD NOT HELP ADMIRING THEIR SPLENDID UNIFORMS AND SUPERB TRAINING.

When you hang light pictures use old fine phonograph needles instead of tacks. The needles make such tiny holes that they will never be detected. A further advantage is that since they have no heads, the needles are invisible against the paper.

Spying On Sports

by BILL RITT

Central Press Sports Writer
INTERSECTIONAL GAMES, a few years ago just oddities on a football schedule, today are the backbone of many large institutions' grid bookings. This season more intersectional games will be played than ever before.

Intersectional games have done as much as anything else to spread the gospel of the gridiron throughout this country. When eastern teams first began to play middle-western eleven the east was made aware of the fact that good football was played west of the Alleghenies. The southern and far-western sections also first made known the rapid strides they had made in the game by beating visiting teams from the effete east and middle-west.

The intersectional game, aside from increasing interest in the sport by spreading the fans' attention to all fronts every Saturday has also done much to bring football to the same high plane of play in every region through the medium of the different sections learning in the intersectional games those phases of the game developed particularly in other sections.

Irish Have Seven
This year finds Notre Dame again leading the list of schools playing intersectionals. The Irish have booked seven games. They are: Southern Methodist, Navy, Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh, Penn. Army and Southern California.

Army plays five—Furman, North Dakota, Kentucky, Wesleyan, Illinois, and Notre Dame—and the Navy three—Notre Dame, Ohio State and Southern Methodist. Penn plays four intersectionals. Harvard will play two, while Princeton and Yale have one each on the books.

MUSHBALL LEAGUE

ETTA sighed—the dream was ending.

NEW YORK STOCKS U. S. Steel Stock Forges Ahead In Day's Trading

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The Steel, Utility and Specialty stocks which led in yesterday's forward movement reached a slightly higher level of prices this morning. With U. S. Steel as the leader, a dozen or more of the favorites forged ahead to the best levels on the move, to the accompaniment of favorable reports and statements from representative sections of business.

Bethlehem and U. S. Steel led the advance in the Steel shares, the former reaching a new high on the move at 81 1/2, up 2 points, while U. S. Steel returned to 187 1/2 for a gain of 1 1/2.

Ray Keith led the activity in the Amusement stocks and moved up fractionally to 31 1/2 in a heavy turnover. Better demand was seen for United Corporation in its new rise of more than a point to 31 1/2. American and Foreign power advanced 2 1/2 to 71 and Consolidated Gas reached a new high on the move at 106 1/2. Gillette was a weak spot in the Industrials group, reaching about 5 points to 75.

Instead of the reported decrease in Steel Mills' operations, a small increase was indicated in surveys made this week by competent trade authorities. Foreign car loading showed another shrinkage. Crude Oil production showed another contraction, to the lowest since late 1928 and a decline of 478,000 barrels daily from the same period last year, call money loaned at 2 1/2 per cent, with 2 per cent bid in the outside market.
